POLICEMEN HELD FOR HOMICIDE IN FINNEY AV. RAID

Lieut. Walton and Three Detectives Under Bond of $5000 After Inquest on Double Killing.

GRAND JURY WILL TAKE UP THE CASE

Detectives Kelly and McNiff, Who Were Shot, Testify at Inquest That Wojcik Begun Shooting.

A verdict of homicide, holding four members of the Police Department for the grand jury, was returned by a coroner's jury today in the inquest into the deaths of James (or Zigmund) Wojcik and Walter Borowski (or Brzowski), brothers-in-law, who were shot and killed in the dwelling at 3761 Finney avenue, Sunday night, July 29, after the police entered to investigate an alleged disturbance.

The four, whose bonds were fixed at $5000 each, are Lieut. William R. Walton, who headed the party, and Detectives John J. Whiteley, John P. Kelly and John J. McNiff. Kelly and McNiff, who testified today, said they did the only shooting that was done by members of the police party. Both were wounded, and the inquest was deferred because they were in the city hospital. McNiff walks on crutches.

To Go to Grand Jury Soon.
The verdict of homicide is all that a coroner's jury could do in a killing of any character. Further steps are in the hands of the prosecuting authorities. Assistant and Acting Circuit Attorney Garstang said, after the inquest, that he would place the case before the grand jury when it shall reconvene early in September. Pending a hearing by the grand jury, the circuit attorney would have power to order the holding of persons without bond, if he judged the case to be one of murder in the first degree. The fixing of bonds indicated that the acting circuit attorney did not regard the case as one of first-degree murder.

The four men will not be suspended from the force unless and until they are indicted, it was stated at Police Headquarters today. Indictments would automatically suspend them, pending the trial of their cases.

The testimony of Kelly and McNiff today, as to the reason for entering the house, and the circumstances of the shootings, was in line with the testimony given last week by Lieut. Walton and Whiteley. Kelly said that the four, passing the house in a police automobile about 10 p. m., heard "loud noise and hollering," saw persons come out, and saw six or seven automobiles in front, and that Lieut. Walton said, "It looks like a fight there; let's go in." He said that on knocking at the front door, they were admitted, but that the man who admitted them called out "Coppers," and that threats and excited cries followed.

Man Struck Detective.
In the main room on the first floor, Kelly said, were 8 or 9 men and two women, and bottles and a box containing money were in view.

"One man," Kelly testified, "said to me, 'Kelly, what the hell do you want here? Get out, you son of a bitch.' Another man started to go out, and we told him to stay, and he struck McNiff and grabbed a floor lamp. Then one of the men (James Wojcik) ran to the kitchen, and someone said he had gone to get a gun."

"When I got out to the kitchen, the man had an automatic, and Lieut. Walton was struggling with him, and the man said, 'I'll kill every one of you,' and fired at us. After he wounded me, I shot at him, and then McNiff shot at him. Lieut. Walton shoved him away, and said, 'Get him here.' I fired four shots in all, and McNiff fired two or three."

McNiff told a similar story as to the entrance, saying a "loud commotion" caused them to go in, and that a "general fight" was started after they entered. He said that after he was shot by Wojcik, he fired two shots in the kitchen, and McNiff fired two or three.

Says Wojcik Started Shooting.
John Neu, attorney for the relatives of the two men, asked McNiff if he did not fire first, and McNiff repeated that Wojcik started the shooting. McNiff produced a steel-jacketed bullet, which he said fitted Wojcik's automatic pistol, and which was taken from his foot at the hospital.

Neu asked him to describe the noise heard from outside, and that it was a loud noise, and that a woman was apparently screaming. He could not repeat any words used. No evidence was found that the

SAUNDERS RETAINS HOLD ON PIGGY WIGGLY PATENTS

Resigns Presidency of Stores Company But Keeps Position With Fixtures Concern.

By the Associated Press.
MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 14.—The affairs of Piggy Wiggly Stores, Inc., after months of financial storm, were being guided by new hands today.

Clarence Saunders, originator of the system and builder of the chain of self-serve grocery stores, under whose management the company's stock created a sensation in Wall street, surrendered his presidency yesterday to representatives of opposing interests, members of the "pool" who co-operated with him in the raid which resulted in catching thousands of short sellers. The directors after accepting Saunders' resignation with that of Fletcher Scott, the president's assistant, elected J. C. Bradford of Nashville, Tenn., as the new executive.

Saunders, however, retains his position as president of the Piggy Wiggle Corporation, which owns the patents under which the stores operate, collects royalties and operates the factory which turns out fixtures for the Piggy Wiggle Stores.

Referring to an impending effort to oust him from this position, Saunders last night declared he would resist any such movement to his last resource.

200 MINERS ENTOMBED IN WYOMING BY DUST EXPLOSION

Rescuers Digging in Shaft of Kemmer Coal Co.'s No. 1 Mine.

By the Associated Press.
KEMMER, Wyo., Aug. 14.—Two hundred miners in No. 1 mine of the Kemmer Coal Co., were entombed this morning following an explosion.

Black clouds of smoke from the mine fan were the only indications of an explosion at first. No detonation was heard above ground as the explosion was estimated to have taken place nearly a mile underground. The explosion occurred in the lower levels. A cave-in at entry No. 15 cut off all communication with the men who were working around the twenty-sixth and twenty-eighth entries. Up to noon one body had been recovered.

As the volunteer workers dug toward the entombed men through the main entrance of the property, hundreds of miners, waiting patiently at the mouth of the mine for word from within.

A runaway trip car which plumed from the mine caused a dust explosion, according to word received from the mine.

POINCARÉ SAID TO PLAY FLAT REJECTION OF BRITISH OFFER

Premier Informs Collaborators He Will Reply to British Suggestions "in Most Courteous Manner Possible," Point by Point, to Reaffirm Stand.

LITTLE HOPE OF SAVING ENTENTE

High Official Says That Britain Has Shown No Disposition to Ease the Burden on Germany as Suggested by Paris.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Aug. 14.—Premier Poincaré, who will return to Paris tonight, has informed his collaborators of the foreign office that he intends "in the most courteous manner possible" to reply point by point to the note of Lord Curzon, British secretary for foreign affairs, on the reparations question.

Although the reply will be courteous, it is asserted in foreign office circles that it will be a stout reaffirmation of the French viewpoint and a flat rejection of the British suggestions.

The reply will be sent as soon as possible, probably before the end of the week. Although it is no longer assumed in official quarters here that the Entente may survive the present differences, the situation is taken with perfect calm in governmental circles, as well as by the press and public. The French have, in fact, long considered the Entente as virtually defunct so far as concrete co-operation between England and France on the application of the terms of the treaty of Versailles.

Lord Curzon's note is taken merely as a public recognition of that fact by the British Government, which the aim of throwing the responsibility for the rupture upon France.

Premier Poincaré, it is understood, will carefully omit anything that might be taken as a denunciation of the Entente, leaving the initiative in the final rupture to the British Government. If Prime Minister Baldwin decides to call an inter-allied conference to fix Germany's capacity to pay such action will be taken by the French, it is forecast, and an unfriendly act that will end the cordial relations that have existed for nearly 20 years.

France will then simply recall the fact that, after all, she is the principal creditor of Germany and that care must be taken that her rights are not infringed upon.

In spite of the extreme reserve in official circles as to the possible consequences of the British note, conversations with the Premier and his collaborators at the Quai d'Orsay yesterday made it quite clear that little hope is entertained of saving the Entente.

All idea of coming to an agreement with London on the essential features of the reparations problem was long ago abandoned, but it is still thought, until the receipt of the last note, that the British Government would give France further opportunity to see what could be done toward forcing Germany to pay.

Conditions Intolerable for France.
Now, however, it appears to French officials concerned with the reparations question that Great Britain stakes the life of the Entente upon conditions intolerable for France.

Great Britain's activities in the reparations discussions said a high official today, have all been in the nature of proposals for sacrifices on the part of France. There is only one more sacrifice, he said, that France is willing to make—and that is to abandon all claims to reparations payments on account of pensions, if Great Britain will do the same. But the British Cabinet, he added, has shown little disposition to take even that small part in concessions to ease the burden on Germany.

The question was raised at the

PROBLEM OF REPARATIONS HINGES ON U. S. POSITION ON DEBTS, POINCARÉ SAYS

France, in "Yellow Book," Asserts Question of Interallied Debts Prevents Her Telling Germany Exact Amount She Owes.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Aug. 14.—A "yellow book" of diplomatic documents, issued last night by the French Government, brings out clearly that the United States ultimately will be asked by the allies how much of the interallied debts she expects to be paid.

The book contains 37 telegrams and letters, most of them between Premier Poincaré and French ambassadors. They are dated from May 3 to Aug. 8 and deal with the Ruhr situation, reparations, debts and the British questionnaire.

Premier Poincaré puts his position plainly in a June 12 message to the French Ambassador in London. He instructs the ambassador, among other things, to tell Lord Curzon, the British Foreign Secretary, that "it is the problem of interallied debts which prevents us from telling Germany now the exact amounts she owes us."

The message adds: "The solution of this problem is in the hands of England, first of all, and the United States afterward. The latter can be approached in a common accord by the allies when they have agreed upon a formula and it has become evident that reparations depend only upon the attitude of the Government at Washington."

Reply to British Action.
The "Yellow Book" was issued as a reply to the British action in announcing that the world would be called upon to judge the present situation with regard to Germany. The documents, which hitherto had been published by the Rhine and Ruhr, will follow the latter of instructions to the ambassadors on how to present the French viewpoint on the situation.

They set out in great detail, and often in the exact language of reparations already made by the Premier publicly and emphasize Poincaré's absolute conviction that Germany can pay, must pay and will pay, because France has a policy of making it easier to pay than to stand the pressure in the Ruhr.

Premier Poincaré explains his idea of guaranteeing, suggesting that Germany publish the Rhine and Ruhr, to the allies, give them certain Ruhr mines, collect customs in gold for the allies and otherwise actively

SEPARATE ACTION BY BALDWIN AWAITED

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON,
London Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and the New York World.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—French press attacks on the British note attract little attention here for these have been discounted. Interest centers in what "separate" action of Premier Baldwin contemplates to make good his threat, when official French rejection of his proposals is received, and even more on the political crisis that seems to be about to break as a result of the Government's foreign policy.

The "die-hard" revolt against open enmity with France, toward which France is pushing, is growing. Violent attacks were made on him yesterday in D'Lord Rothemann's Daily Mail and Evening News. These are nominally Tory papers and supported Baldwin for Premier. The Morning Post, organ of Tory extremists, is more cautious. In political clubs it is widely said that the Tory right wing has decided Baldwin must go.

The "die-hard" argument is that either the Premier is bluffing, in which case he will lose and Britain will be placed in a position of unprecedented humiliation, or he is heading straight toward war with France. There is talk of the Earl of Derby for Premier. Other Tories talk of forming a coalition Government under Viscount Grey. Foreign Minister at the outbreak of the war, even if he is a Liberal. His speeches are held to mean that he would not interfere with the action of the Tories would let Franco Alone.

Premier Baldwin, backed by financial and big business interests and supported by the House of Commons, have taken a line clearly opposed to the prevailing sentiment in their party. Most Tories favor letting France alone.

Mr. Baldwin's task is one of extreme difficulty. He is committed to separate action since it is clear France will rebuff his latest note. There is no strong reason to believe that any action will be decided upon. At least one "die-hard" minister, and probably Lord Robert Cecil would resign rather than agree to anything tending toward serious complications with France.

Labor is loud in support of the Premier's note, but it is strongly pacifist and the moment the cry was raised that war with France is at the end of the road now being followed, labor probably would desert him. However, there is nothing approaching a war scare, for everyone knows the people would not sanction it.

Germany Announces Cessation of Reparation Deliveries in Kind.

PARIS, Aug. 14.—Germany formally notified the Reparations commission, in a letter dated last Saturday and delivered today, that all reparations deliveries in kind would cease after that date because of the great expense involved which might jeopardize the pending German gold loan and tax reforms.

The German announcement was a continuation of permanently discontinuing deliveries, but said her burden must be lightened to "avoid a complete breakdown of the German economic and financial system." The cessation affects particularly those countries that did not participate in the occupation of the Ruhr, as such deliveries to France and Belgium ceased soon after the troops entered.

STABILIZING MARKS BY SEIZURE POLICY NOW ADVOCATED

Reichstag Committee Discusses Taking 200,000,000 Gold Marks in Foreign Currency From Reich.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and Chicago Daily News.

Copyright, 1923.
BERLIN, Aug. 14.—A serious attempt at stabilization of the mark, at least temporarily, can be expected under the new Finance Minister, Herr Hinfelinger—an attempt of a character almost unprecedented in modern times.

New forces entering the Government are beating down the last resistance by the big industrialists. Chancellor Stresemann, a leader of the industrialist party, has accepted the new financial program by taking Hinfelinger into his cabinet.

The Taxation Committee of the Reichstag today is discussing the forthcoming gold loan, proposing to put teeth into it by authorizing the Government to seize 200,000,000 gold marks in foreign currency from the nation if it is not subscribed willingly.

The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, Hugo Stinnes' paper, solemnly protests against the "premature stabilization." It threatens terrible consequences if industry is obliged to borrow to pay taxes.

The popular demand for the resignation of President Hinfelinger is increasing. He holds office for life, but it is threatened that if he does not resign, the Reichstag will change the law so as to make his tenure of office only until he is 70 years old.

In the recent writings of Hinfelinger can be traced the lines of the financial policy which he is expected to inaugurate. Briefly this emergency measure must decide between the two independent currencies at the same time:

1. A currency for export trade, fully secured by a reserve of one-third to one-half in foreign bank notes, collected by the forthcoming gold loan. This would be legal tender.

2. A currency for domestic use, issued against this reserve would be used by the Reich to purchase food and other necessities abroad.

The present mark currency for internal trade would be legal tender prohibited in foreign trade. Since it would be offered for sale abroad only in small quantities, the supply would not exceed the demand and the mark would be kept comparatively stable. The quantities could be increased to meet the demand of business without undue risk.

This dual currency system already exists in Russia, where it works fairly well with the present small export trade, but the experiment would be vastly more difficult in Germany.

Theoretically, the scheme might succeed, but in practice it would be a disaster. The Government's ability to obtain large sums of foreign currency immediately. This is the essential feature of the new Government plans.

22 KILLED WHEN AIX-LA-CHAPELLE POLICE FIGHT MOB

200 Others Wounded in Attempt to Free Prisoners Held After Riots of Yesterday.

By the Associated Press.

DUESSELDORF, Aug. 14.—Reports to the German newspapers from Aix La Chapelle, say that 22 persons were killed and 200 wounded in rioting there and agree with other reports that the affair was caused by crowds attempting to free certain arrested persons whom the police refused to deliver.

By the Associated Press.
AIX LA CHAPPELLE, Aug. 14.—All the victims of the rioting here were German civilians. In yesterday's demonstration four Germans were killed and 40 wounded.

The crowd was composed for the most part of idle workmen. It laid regular siege to the headquarters and refused to heed the police warnings to disperse.

After throwing hand grenades into the crowd and firing several volleys the security police emerged and charged the mob with sabres and revolvers. Mounted police now are patrolling the city. The Belgian troops did not interfere in the affair.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Aug. 14.—Hamburg was the scene of further rioting today, with many killed or wounded, according to a Central News dispatch from Berlin. Communists have gained the upper hand at Wilhelmshagen, near Hamburg, the dispatch adds, alarming the militia and taking control of the town.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, Aug. 14.—The industrial situation in Berlin showed improvement today and there were reports of betterment in conditions from other parts of Germany, although disorders were still in progress in many districts.

The general strike in Berlin was called off by the communists this morning, but the transportation lines reopening.

Improvement was also noticed among the private industrial establishments, several works resuming operation.

The police prevented attempts to hold demonstrations in various parts of Berlin.

The situation at Stettin has become worse. The day and night went on a strike and numbers of shops were plundered, especially butchers and bakers.

During the night came rumors that 20 persons had been killed in a rioting was also said to be in progress in Neisse, Silesia.

So far the disturbances in Berlin have been of minor nature, and the police have been called into service only to stop plundering and prevent communist agitators from persuading local workers to leave their homes, but they have based their entrance on the noise that they heard from without.

Policemen Engage Counsel.

The bonds for the four men held by the Coroner's Jury were signed by two professional bondsmen. The men have engaged Verne R. C. Law as special counsel. The City Law Department is also required to furnish counsel to accused policemen.

The four reported at Chief O'Brien's office after giving bond, and the chief ordered Walton and Whiteley back to their regular duty, and told the others to go home until they should be able to return to duty.

An anonymous letter, which stated that the writer is a Polish lawyer and "would gladly enter this case free," has been received by Felix Wojcik, brother of the man who was killed, but they have based their entrance on the noise that they heard from without.

Hughes Suggested Commission to Fix Amount of Payment

SECRETARY OF STATE HUGHES, in a speech before the American Historical Society at the New Haven, Dec. 29, 1922, said the crisis of the European situation rested in the settlement of reparations.

"There ought to be a way," he said, "for statesmen to agree upon what Germany can pay, no matter what claims may be made against her, that is the limit of satisfaction. There ought to be a way to determine that limit and provide a financial plan by which immediate results can be obtained."

"If statesmen cannot agree and exigencies of public opinion make their course difficult, then there should be called to their aid those who can point the way to a solution."

"Why should they not invite men of the highest authority in finance in their respective countries—men of such prestige, experience and honor that their agreement upon a financial plan for working out the payments, would be accepted throughout?"

The expression obtainable? Governments need not bind themselves in advance to accept the recommendations, but they can at least make possible such an inquiry with their approval and free the men who may represent their country in such a commission from any responsibility to foreign officials, and from any duty to obey political instructions. In other words, they may invite an answer to this difficult and pressing question from men of such standing and in such circumstances of freedom as will insure a reply prompted only by knowledge and conscience.

"I have no doubt that distinguished statesmen would be willing to serve on such a commission. If Governments saw fit to reject the recommendation upon which such a body agreed, they would be free to do so, but they would have the advantage of impartial advice and of an enlightened public opinion. Peoples would be informed of the question would be rescued from assertion and counter-assertion and the problem put upon its way to solution."

"There lies open a broad avenue of opportunity to those whose voluntary action is indispensable are willing to take advantage of it. And once this is done the avenues of American help cannot fail to open hopefully."

women in the house were being abused, he said in answer to a question.

Cecilia Boroski, sister of Walter Boroski, said she recognized Kelly as the one who "pulled Walter from behind a door and shot him." She and other members of the party in the house testified last week in detail as to the shooting, accusing Whiteley as well as Kelly and the other men. They testified that they did not even see Wojcik have a weapon, and they professed not to know who shot the two detectives.

As has been told, the autopsy indicated that Kelly was killed by a police bullet, though the detectives have said that they thought Wojcik must have shot him while firing at them.

Wojcik Wanted in Other Cases.
The police have obtained statements to the effect that Wojcik was implicated in several swindles, practiced on persons of Polish descent, and was the principal in one such swindle, which was a fraud on the part of the perpetrator of the swindles, they consider that this explains Wojcik's desperate behavior when they entered.

The bonds for the four men held by the Coroner's Jury were signed by two professional bondsmen. The men have engaged Verne R. C. Law as special counsel. The City Law Department is also required to furnish counsel to accused policemen.

The four reported at Chief O'Brien's office after giving bond, and the chief ordered Walton and Whiteley back to their regular duty, and told the others to go home until they should be able to return to duty.

An anonymous letter, which stated that the writer is a Polish lawyer and "would gladly enter this case free," has been received by Felix Wojcik, brother of the man who was killed, but they have based their entrance on the noise that they heard from without.

Field deputies of the Internal Revenue Department will begin a campaign next Monday to collect the annual $10 Federal tax on automobiles used to carry passengers.

During the four years that the tax has been effective, few motorists in St. Louis have paid upon automobiles used in funeral parlors, Walter Freimuth, chief field deputy, said that one of the first aims of the campaign would be to seek out delinquent undertakers. He believes that most of them have failed to pay through ignorance of the existence of the tax and there is no intention to assess penalties upon these circumventors.

However, there will be no leniency with service car drivers who have neglected to pay. In many years, deputies have been told by delinquent service car drivers: "I just started and didn't know about the tax." There was no alternative but to accept the statement and tax them for the period of their delinquency.

The deputies now have obtained from State and city sources, a record of service car drivers and the period of their operation. The penalty for non-payment of the tax is an additional 32 per cent of the tax plus $1,000 or any part of $1,000 named in a compromise. "I am not in a compromising mood with service car drivers," Freimuth said.

There lies open a broad avenue of opportunity to those whose voluntary action is indispensable are willing to take advantage of it. And once this is done the avenues of American help cannot fail to open hopefully."

GERMAN CHANCELLOR NAMES TERMS TO END RESISTANCE IN RUHR

have been taxed less than they expected. This was due to the fact that for several years we have been in the position that we were approaching stabilization of the mark.

"We passed high taxation laws, but when the taxes were to be collected the mark had depreciated so that the amount of the taxes was only a small fraction of what the Ministry of Finance estimated. Thus the whole business life acquired a character of dishonesty and corruption because the mark in June was not like the mark in July."

"We must now collect real gold value from the industrialists to remove the injustice caused, not by the political influence of business, but by the depreciation of the mark and the uncertainty of our reparation obligations."

"This uncertainty means that Germany does not yet know what she really owes. If I yield to the American demand that capitalism have an unlimited field of exploration here, that the finances of the country are insignificant compared with its real industrial wealth, this state of affairs is not due to the bad will of the Government or the greed of big business, but to the unsettled condition of Europe."

Discusses America's Attitude.
A prominent American told us that the downfall of German trade and industry was not a matter of life and death for the United States, but the fact remained that American prosperity depended on a healthy Europe. He said that if America could leave Europe to itself, in the belief that it is strong enough to ignore all eruptions in other countries, it personally doubt if her economic strength would be as great as this, but America's normal sense should not ignore the threatening catastrophe."

George Cosmos Says He Protested Against Removal of Property.
George Cosmos, who told police he was the common-law husband of Frieda Baber, 32 years old, 2514 Olive street, who was killed early yesterday when an automobile in which she was riding overturned at Broadway and Dakota street, was taken to the city hospital today from the street house suffering from lacerations, numerous bruises and contusions, which he said were received when he attempted to prevent two men from taking property from Miss Baber's rooms.

On going to the police station today, Cosmos said he found two men there and saw a raincoat laid out and filled with silk dresses which belonged to Miss Baber, and pillowcases and other bundles filled with ivory goods and jewelry. He shouted "police" into the telephone whereupon he was beaten. Policemen soon arrived and two men were arrested. At the Laclede Avenue Station, two men, identified by Cosmos as having assaulted him, gave their names as Clarence Dunsford, 2760 Caroline street, and Edward Conlon, 2713 Eads avenue. Otto A. Hampe, Public Administrator, said that his office yesterday ordered Conlon, who he says, is a private watchman, to look after the effects of Miss Baber.

A. building for a moment. Police and railroad officials have been asked to assist in the search.

DOROTHY KING KILLED BY THIEF, DETECTIVES SAY

No Blackmail in Case of Broadway Butterfly Who Was Chloroformed in Apartment, They Believe.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Dorothy King's murder has been solved—at least the method of its perpetration and the motive have been, to the satisfaction of Inspector Coughlin, Chief of Detectives, and those who have worked under him on the case. Unremittingly they have labored to bring to justice the slayer of the Broadway butterfly, who was chloroformed to death in bed in her apartment at 144 West Fifty-seventh street.

Attempted blackmail of J. Kearney Mitchell of Philadelphia, son-in-law of E. T. Stotesbury, who paid dearly in money and notoriety for her affections, Coughlin says, did not enter into the crime. The girl was the victim of a thief—a woman who sought her jewels and clothes to satisfy vanity, or a man who, through their gift, figured to get into the good graces of another woman. Inquiry Persistent.

"Find the person who wanted those clothes and you will find the thief and the murderer," Inspector Coughlin said emphatically in police headquarters as he went over the case in detail.

"The man we want knew that apartment house well," he added. "Later Assistant District Attorney Pecora, who from the first suspected blackmail, said:

"There is plenty of room to sustain the robbery theory." The foregoing deductions have been made by Inspector Coughlin and his men after an investigation that has been persistent since the morning of March 15, when the lifeless body of Miss King was found by her negro maid. It had been rumored wealth and influence had ended the investigation. Capt. Arthur A. Carey of the Homicide Bureau, had as many as six detectives on the case recently.

All the many persons brought into the investigation were followed, to no avail. It could not be said, however, that all received a clean bill of health in reports of their activities, but on none did more than suspicion fall.

On no one in Miss King's affections did suspicion focus. None of her companions had reason to do away with her. That point was cleared. The mystery revolved itself to a conviction that the murderer wanted her money, cunningly to drug her to get it, and used chloroform, not knowing its deadliness perhaps. Murder may not have been planned.

Two facts that Inspector Coughlin related in detail for the first time stand out. In his mind they clinch the robbery theory. Dorothy King left the key of her apartment hanging on a hook in the elevator, where Hilda Ferguson, the "Music Box Revue" dancer, who had lived with her, and one or two other intimates, could find it. Several persons familiar with the apartment house knew she kept it there.

Whoever killed her used the key and stole into the apartment after she had thrown herself on the bed in her chemise. The murderer left the key on the apartment mantelpiece, where later it was found, closed the door with its spring lock and went out with the lock. The other indication of robbery. The girl's clothes were soiled and worn. Even her ermine squirrel coats were far from new. The things were not pawnable; they never have been pawned. Detectives have watched the pawnshops far and wide.

Two Dresses Dropped in Hall.

Two dresses were dropped in the hall of the apartment as the thief went out. Her black leas suit-case was used to carry most of the clothing. That has not been pawned; neither has her three-carat solitaire, so far as has been ascertained, nor her other jewelry.

Recounting to the police his acquaintance with Dorothy King, Mitchell made no secret of his relations with her. Inspector Coughlin and his men have deduced that Mr. Mitchell wrote "Dot" he was coming from Palm Beach. His letter never has been found. Billie Bradford, Miss King's maid, said she saw it in her mistress's handbag, but did not read it. What was said to have been excerpts from it have been printed. Pecora emphatically denied it ever was found. The thief took the handbag and apparently the letter with it.

About 2 o'clock in the morning, the last time he saw her, Mitchell left, he said, going down in the elevator. John Thomas, negro elevator man, could not remember taking him down. First he said he didn't, then he said he didn't know whether he did or not.

Crime at 7 in the Morning. Dorothy King fell asleep. No one entered her apartment until about 7 o'clock in the morning, police have concluded. But about that time, they are convinced, a person thoroughly familiar with Miss King's habits took her key, entered the apartment and chloroformed the girl.

She awakened and struggled. The bruises on her face and arms showed that. But, weakened by sleep and the drug, she lost consciousness, and the thief left her with the saturated cotton under her nose.

When the maid went to the apartment at 11:25 a. m., she found the lifeless body of her mistress still warm.

Pabcolin is not merely a floorcovering. It is an improvement on printed Linoleum. Pabcolin lies flat without tacking. It will not curl at the edges. It will not decay, because of water getting underneath from frequent mopping. Pabcolin has 30% more paint (enamel paint) on its surface than any other printed floorcovering. Best of all—Pabcolin is sold with an absolute guarantee of satisfaction or replacement.

surprising as this price is, it's no more surprising than the impressive quality of Pabcolin, nor the beautiful patterns.

For the living room, dining room, hall, bedroom or kitchen. Save your wool rugs the hard wear during the summer months. Think how much cooler your rooms will be! Pabcolin Rugs are quickly and easily cleaned. No hand-and-knee exercises! No heavy broom work! Once lightly over with a damp mop, and they will shine spotlessly again, like the day when they were new!
Chinese, Oriental and conventional designs, in shades of blue, taupe, rose or tan.

Read Why Pabcolin
Is the Best Printed Covering:

An Improvement on Printed Linoleum

Pabcolin lies flat without tacking.
It will not curl at the edges.
It will not decay, because of water getting underneath from frequent mopping.
Because of the high quality material used, and the care with which it is manufactured, Pabcolin will last for years, with just ordinary care.
The exceptionally firm base and the heavily printed enamel-paint surface insure an attractive appearance as long as Pabcolin lasts.
The special seal, used exclusively on Pabcolin, prevents the waterproofing in the base from discoloring the lustrous surface colors.
Pabcolin is one of the few floorcoverings manufactured with an enamel wearing surface. This feature, coupled with the fact that there is 30% more paint (and it is enamel paint) used on the surface than any other printed floorcovering is one of the reasons for its longer wearing qualities.
The handsome, clean-cut patterns include designs suitable for living rooms, bedrooms, nurseries, kitchens, pantries, laundries, bathrooms, sleeping porches, etc.

The Maker's Guarantee

Each roll of Pabcolin is insured by the manufacturer against buckling, stretching, shrinking, peeling off, cracking off, or fading. It is also insured against wear. The manufacturer says, "If the purchaser is not entirely satisfied with the service given, the same is to be replaced free of charge—and the purchaser is to be the judge of what service he or she should receive." Could you ask for more?

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Aug. 14.—Eight bodies of persons killed or drowned as a result of a series of cloudbursts in the vicinity of Salt Lake City and Ogden early last evening had been recovered up to 11 o'clock this morning. Three persons are missing and property damage is expected to total upward of $1,000,000.

At Willard, north of Ogden, the body of a woman had been recovered from flood debris and search is being made for two men missing.

Motor Coach Falls Into Ravine
in the Pyrenees—All Victims Were Hollanders.

By the Associated Press.
LOURDES, France, Aug. 14.—
Twenty-three persons were killed and seven were probably fatally injured yesterday when a motor coach, filled with excursionists, plunged down a 250-foot ravine in the Pyrenees Mountains near Saint Sauveur.

The driver, in an attempt to avoid striking a woman who stepped from the bushes, swerved his machine
sharply and the coach overturned, crashing to the bottom of the ravine.
The woman who was the indirect cause of the accident ran screaming to the nearest village, gave the alarm and fainted. A rescue party extricated the bodies. All the victims were Hollanders.

COMPANY TO SETTLE ON MEININGER BOND

Commissioner Millsbaugh Informed $75,000 Surety Will Be Paid in Full.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 14.—
State Commissioner of Finance Millsbaugh announced today that the Fidelity and Casualty Co. of Maryland, which was surety on the bond of A. O. Meininger, convicted cashier of the defunct Night and Day Bank for $75,000, had agreed to honor the bond in full and forward
a check for the full amount to W.
Frank Carter, St. Louis representative of Millsbaugh.

It appears that the bonding company at first disclaimed full liability
under the bond because of the loose methods tolerated by the bank and offered to pay half of the sum.
Millsbaugh went to Baltimore last week and, following a conference with officers of the company, reached an agreement whereby the full amount of the bond will be paid.
The money will go into the fund
from which depositors receive dividends.

Millsbaugh is now working on a plan to collect insurance claims of Meyer Katz, which have been assigned to the liquidating officials.
These amount to approximately $150,000.

PROHIBITION OFFICERS DENY CHARGES MADE BY WOMAN

East St. Louis Agents Accused of Improper Conduct During Raid
of Store and Home.

Mrs. Louise Boehm, who has a grocery and lives at 4449 North Thirty-third street, East St. Louis, and who was arrested Thursday on a charge of resisting and interfering with Federal officers during a raid of her store and home by prohibition enforcement agents, today said her defense would be improper conduct by the raiders. She said they shunted her furniture around; tore a carpet on the floor, and used profanity in the presence of herself and daughter, besides calling them
"bunkies."

The agents had a search warrant, which they did not serve until after the raid was over, Mrs. Boehm said.
They found no liquor on the premises.

Oscar Graney, who led the raiders,
said the search warrant was properly served at the beginning of the raid; that no profanity was used, and no unnecessary action taken by the men. He added that Mrs. Boehm pointed a revolver at them. She admitted this, but said it was not loaded and that the action was intended to allay the violence of the search.
No liquor was found.

WATER DEPARTMENT SAYS IT HAS MEN TO DO STRIKERS' WORK

Full Force Work All Day Saturday Assess Wall, and Breaks Are Being Repaired Promptly.

Replying to reports that the strike of 97 pipe-layers and laborers of the City Water Department for a half holiday on Saturday might create a serious condition, Water Commissioner Wall today announced that he had all the workmen he needed for the strikers' jobs and that the situation was being kept well in hand.

"I see no reason at this time for receding from our position in regard to this strike," said Wall. "The jobs vacated by the strikers have all been filled, and we have about 150 additional applicants all willing to work eight hours on Saturday. We have had several breaks since the strike was called, July 28, which have been promptly and properly repaired.
Any report that a serious condition
impends is untrue."

Representatives of Local Union
No. 393, of Hod Carriers, Building Workers and Common Laborers, with which the strikers are affiliated, recently called on Mayor Kiel, but he declined to interfere, stating that Wall was in charge of the situation and any settlement would have to be made with him.

By Leased Wire From the New York

Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Senator Reed Smoot of Utah, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, returned yesterday on the Leviathan after three weeks spent in Europe and brought back a pessimistic picture of economic and political conditions and declared unless prompt action were taken to avert it, another war would break out.

The hatred between Germany and France is intense, he said, and there is only one remedy for the situation—the countries involved must get together. The alternative is war.

"I knew that conditions were bad, but I was astounded to find they were worse than I had ever dreamed," said Senator Smoot, who also came home with bad news for the American farmer.

"Never in the last 50 years have the countries of Europe grown so much foodstuffs. With a large crop in view in the United States it appears likely there will be a large overproduction, with corresponding deflation for the farmer."

British Craft That Hovered About 3-Mile Limit.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Seizure of alien craft hovering about the three-mile limit, surreptitiously to land liquor cargoes, either by themselves or in co-operation with small rum runners, was upheld today by United States District Judge Woodrough in Brooklyn.

Judge Woodrough, who usually sits in Omaha, directed a jury to return a $20,000 verdict in favor of the Government against the Detroit Fidelity & Surety Co. in connection with the seizure of the British vessel Marion Mosher on July 27, 1913.

The Mosher was off Fire Island, near the three-mile limit, boldly landing liquor from a small boat. It was alleged that the vessel was carrying a cargo of rum. On being released, it was charged, she continued business at other points along the coast.

In his decision, Judge Woodrough said:

"When a British vessel hovers around the American coast, although three miles from shore, with the intent to violate the laws, and is caught in the act of smuggling or attempting to smuggle intoxicating liquors, and it is shown that it is having contact with the shore, its seizure, though of foreign registry and though outside the three-mile limit, is justified."

The Mosher was released in bonds furnished by the Detroit Fidelity and Surety Co.—$15,000 on the ship and $15,000 on its cargo. The condition was imposed that the vessel should proceed to St. John, N. B.

Government agents kept watch of the ship's movements and reported that she made several stops and discharged liquor. The bonds then were declared forfeited and this forfeiture today was sustained.

WAR IS PROBABLE*Chairman of Finance Committee of United States Senate Says American Farmer Must Stand "Deflation."

By Isaac Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Senator Reed Smoot of Utah, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, returned yesterday on the Leviathan after three weeks spent in Europe and brought back a pessimistic picture of economic and political conditions and declared unless prompt action was taken to avert it, another war would break out.

The hatred between Germany and France is intense, he said, and there is only one remedy for the situation—the countries involved must get to grips. The alternative is war.

"I knew that conditions were bad, but I was astounded to find they were worse than I had ever dreamed," said Senator Smoot, who also came home with bad news for the American farmer.

Predicts German Revolution.

Concerning Germany, he said that every turn of events points to a revolution before winter. But a revolution in Germany does not mean the total destruction of that country.

Senator Smoot explained. It will come back either in some form of limited monarchy, communism, or a group of small states which will eventually unite into one government, perhaps perhaps never.

Germany will come back. It may take 50 years or more, but she will come back," declared Senator Smoot.

He believes that France is justified in forcing Germany to pay, but the situation in the Ruhr is critical. England does not agree with the French method of procedure, but there is nothing for France to do except to follow her present policy, Mr. Smoot said.

The condition is surely breeding future war between the two countries, probably involving England and one or two other nations, he believes.

Says World Court Is Valuable.

Asked if he wanted to see America enter the World Court, Senator Smoot replied that it would not be possible with the court in its present form, but with the modifications suggested by the late President Harding, the United States could become a member of the court and could exercise helpful influence in restoring the European situation.

Senator Smoot said he went abroad to study the financial side of the European tangle because he felt that he should have first hand information as chairman of the Finance Committee of the Senate.

COOLIDGE ABOUT
RETURN OF BEER*Missouri Congressman Declares Failure to Enforce Volstead Act Undermines Respect for All Laws.*AMENDMENT OF DRY LAW SOUGHT*President's Attitude on Wet Proposals Causes Speculation, as He Has Been Silent Thus Far.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Wet leaders of Congress will seek the active assistance of President Coolidge in adopting at the next session an amendment to the Volstead act.

There is complete ignorance as to how he will receive their pleas. Representative Dyer, Republican of Missouri, member of the House Judiciary Committee, called at the executive offices yesterday to set forth the results of his nation-wide survey on the prohibition enforcement question.

He told Mr. Coolidge that he will submit later a brief covering his views in favor of abolishing the low percentage limitation on the alcoholic content of beer, and will introduce on the opening day of the next session of Congress a resolution striking out "one-half of one per cent" in the Volstead law and substituting "24 per cent by weight." This, according to Mr. Dyer, will give the people beer 3.46 per cent alcohol by volume.

The president thanked him for his offer to present his argument but did not commit himself on proposals to alter the statute.

Dyer said he had been from California to New England, stopping in such industrial centers as Akron and his home district in St. Louis and declared that nowhere is the Volstead law being enforced. Large employers, who originally supported prohibition, have changed their minds regarding it, he added.

"The bars in the cities are serving the people bad and unhealthy concoctions," he continued. "It is certainly a fact that the inability to enforce the law is undermining respect for all law."

"I think the people want beer. The resolution I intend to introduce will have no bearing on the Eighteenth Amendment which sets no specific limit on the alcoholic content of beverages. The figure of 2.75 per cent was established by court tests in New York and beverages of that content are not in fact intoxicating."

The resolution will not be linked with a soldier bonus. It will be designed simply to give the people what they want. I believe much of the so-called unrest in Minnesota is due to the prohibition law and the fact that the people cannot get beer. In addition, Minnesota farmers to the St. Louis brewers, and now the barley is being used for feed for stock. I do not know what chances there are for getting the resolution through Congress."

Dyer also informed the President he would submit a brief on anti-lynching legislation. His brief will cover the history of his anti-lynching bill, the party declaration in favor of it at the Chicago convention, and a discussion of the lynching problem in the South. Dyer intends to reintroduce his measure.

NEW INTERNATIONAL AIR RULES

Three Proposals by American Association Adopted.

By the Associated Press. GOTHENBURG, Sweden, Aug. 14.—The International Aeronautic Federation in session here has adopted three proposals made by the National Aeronautic Association of the United States. The first of these sanctions as official stations at which stop-watch and chronometer certificates may be obtained, the United States Naval Observatory at Washington (which had previously been approved) and the chronometer time station at Mare Island, Cal.

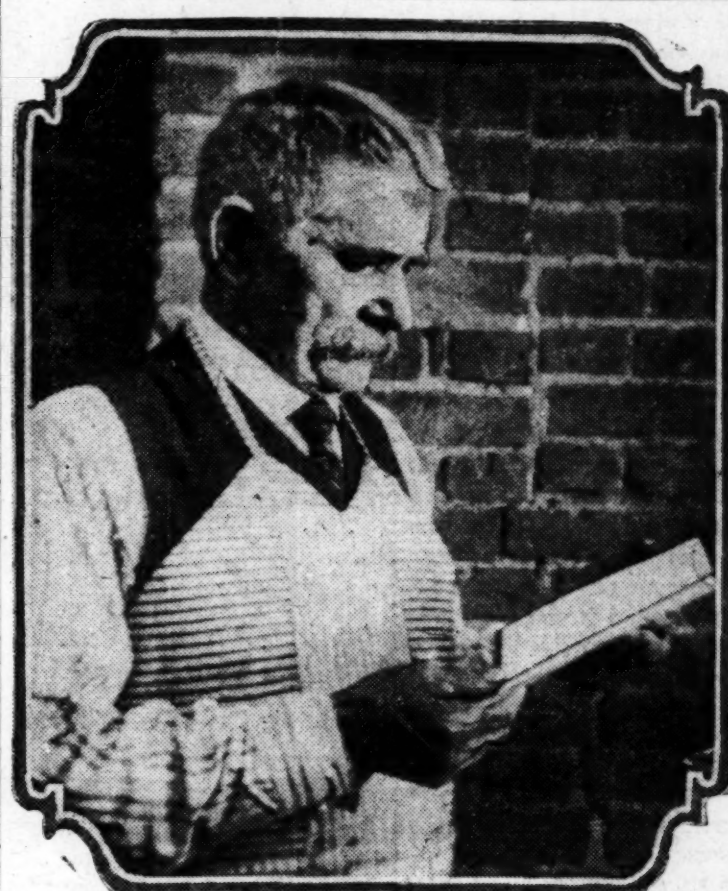

The second suggestion provides that speed for straight-away trials shall be computed according to the National Aeronautic Association standard. A petition for revision of the International Aeronautic Federation's regulations making it necessary for a pilot attempting duration or distance records to return to the point of departure, was discussed, but finally the American delegates' motion was carried. This provided for the creation of a new category of records for distance flights without a return to the point of departure. Refilling while in transit may be permitted and the N. A. A. was requested to draft regulations covering this innovation.

Here is President Coolidge's letter:

"My Dear Mr. Lucey:

"Not often do I see you or write you, but I want you to know that if it were not for you I should not be here and I want to tell you how much I love you."

Secretary of State Confers With Crowder on Cuban Railway Consolidation Bill.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Conditions in Cuba were discussed by Secretary Hughes yesterday with Ambassador Crowder, who was called home from Havana for that purpose. The Ambassador spent half an hour in Hughes' office and no announcement was made afterwards beyond the statement that the American Government would delay final action on the railway consolidation bill pending the Cuban Congress, until the views of American interests involved could be presented.

Assurance given in Havana by the Cuban Foreign Minister that the bill would not be voted upon in the Senate until hearing had been given to the views of the United States, was made yesterday by Attorney-General Daugherty after several conferences with President Coolidge.

The Attorney-General said that, in his judgment, the conditions attached to the commission's approval of the merger safeguarded the public interest and that Congress, in effect, by the passage of the transportation act, under which the approval was given, had set up a new policy for the Government in regard to such transactions.

In the proceedings at St. Paul to enforce the Supreme Court mandate the Court held that, in the transportation act, Congress had given the commission power to approve such a merger and that the act was a valid law.

"Germany will collapse unless she yields to the demands of France," declared Willis H. Booth, vice president of the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York and president of the International Chamber of Commerce.

Bush had a long talk with Premier Baldwin of England the day after the death of President Harding. He indicated that Baldwin was waiting to sound out American feeling before taking any definite step in the Ruhr.

Desporting.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE humiliating story of government by the Antislavery League is fully told in your inspired cartoon of recent date. "The State? Is the State?" sitting on the safety valve of the good ship Prohibition is Commissioner Roy A. Haynes, chief apologist for lawlessness under the Volstead dynasty, through authorship of a book telling the sad story between flights of sobbing fancy calculated to make the peregrinations into this field by the late Bertha M. Clay look like the poetic gambolings of a great school girl.

Why doesn't Haynes say something to the public about William H. Anderson, indicted superintendent of the New York Antislavery League? The league's Board of Directors of New York State, July 24, voted Anderson innocent by a set of resolutions. This before he has been tried. Haynes has repeatedly charged that all opponents of prohibition are would-be wreckers of the Constitution of the United States; so has Wayne B. Wheeler, chief counsel of the league.

New York's Constitution, its exemplary code of laws, its courts, all are as nothing to the New York league, which pronounced Anderson's indictment "a monstrous perversion of justice." New York, once believed to be a sovereign State among sister states, is thus forced to sit away back in anticipation of further and more cruel judgments at the hand of the league than the resolutions acquitting Anderson, which openly defy the law and the courts.

To scoff at the laws of a State is the religious duty of the leagues when the honesty and integrity of one of their chief saints is brought before the bar of justice. This is the kind of lawfulness of the "Antislavery League" flaunts in the faces of the 110,000,000 inhabitants of the United States, the rule of denial of all State rights to New York—the rule of despotism by intolerance and bigotry. It is probable that the Haynes-Wheeler crowd believe the Constitution and laws of New York were nullified by the Volstead act. The public would be enlightened by them.

The Opera Review.

HAVING been guilty, two years ago, of criticizing the critics of our Municipal Opera, I wish to commend Mr. Stokes for his most excellent review of this season's opera, in Sunday's paper.

Much Ado About Other People's Business.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IN reply to letter from A. Narchy, you certainly state the case on the head. Our police are too officious; they expect us to respect the law, while they themselves break the laws by invading private homes, use foul, abusive language, then wonder why the people are prejudiced. They would do better by getting the burglars, the panel workers and prostitutes.

You say, "Is there no one to uphold the law?" I have noticed in the paper that our Coroner is making a thorough investigation in the Finney avenue case, giving all a fair chance to be heard. Will anxiously await the verdict.

You also object to compulsory vaccination. You are right. The various Supreme Courts have ruled against compulsory vaccination. Hundreds have suffered and died from vaccination. The truth is, the law will uphold you and compel the schools to accept your children. It would be a whole lot better if our Commissioner would look more after sanitation by cutting weeds, better garbage collection, cleaning up the filthy alleys and lots, have the sewers flushed when they smell. He has made a war on the quacks, which is all right, but why unleash all these cases on the clinics, which he admits have increased, and thereby increase our taxes? If they can pay the quacks, they can pay the doctor. There is too much charity where not needed.

My remedy would be to vote another party into power who will go on with our bond issue. Give us a Health Commissioner and Police Commissioner who will do right by our dear city, which we all love, in spite of prohibition which our misrepresentatives hurled on to us.

FAIR PLAY.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Incinerating High Rents.
BECAUSE the new incinerator in the neighborhood of De Tonty street and King's highway will reduce property values, and thereby reduce the exorbitant rents the rent hogs in this district are demanding, said rent hogs are trying madly to block the erection of the plant.

Protesting landlords may block the city in this project, but the eternal law of supply and demand cannot be successfully blocked, even by rent hogs who have had their way for a period, taking advantage of a shortage of houses, to shoot the rents sky high.

May the city build one or a dozen incinerators in this rent hog's paradise if it will reduce rents.

MR. COOLIDGE'S FIRST DUTY.

One of the last acts of the late President Harding before leaving Washington for his trip to Alaska was to order the release of 25 political prisoners, held in jail under varying sentences for violation of the espionage act. The release of these prisoners out of a total of 51 at that time in jail, although based upon a recommendation by the Attorney-General, was evidently the result of a widespread demand for amnesty for all political prisoners.

The first duty of Mr. Coolidge in the presidency is to complete the work that Mr. Harding began.

The evidence, thoroughly analyzed and digested, showed that these war prisoners were in jail on account of the expression of opinion, and the issue had become therefore a question of freedom of speech, freedom of opinion, in America under the guarantees of liberty in the Constitution. Senator Borah, at a meeting of the World War Veterans in New York, had clearly defined the issue. Making an eloquent plea for the release of the prisoners, he said they were not imprisoned for overt acts of violence and sabotage, but for the opinions they held. He said in part:

There is a much broader principle, my friends, involved in this matter, one of far deeper concern than the freedom of 53 (there were then 53) men. . . . At the bottom of the controversy there lies the question of what constitutes free speech and free press under the American flag. . . . All therefore who prize human liberty will be jealous to see the Constitution administered according to its letter and its spirit. That is the price of free government.

In support of the plea for release petitions had been signed by more than a million persons—including great organizations representing the women in industry—the churches, labor, War Veterans, social service, the soldiers and sailors. Men of the highest standing and capacity, after examination into all the facts, have urged amnesty. Maj. Alexander Sidney Lanier, who was an officer in the Intelligence Division of the General Staff of the Army, thoroughly investigated the entire record of the Chicago I. W. W. cases, and as a lawyer of long standing and practice, told the House Judiciary Committee that in his opinion:

None of these men were properly convicted because I think that the indictments were vitally defective.

He declared that there was no evidence that they were guilty of the conspiracy charged. The Chicago prisoners were released, and there is a strong body of opinion submitted by other men, lawyers of high standing, that the remaining cases were of the same character.

Major-General John F. O'Ryan, who commanded the Twenty-seventh Division in the World War, declared of all the prisoners that "the continued imprisonment of these men is harsh and not necessary in the interest of law and order," remarking further that "a generous interpretation of liberty is a much safer policy for a representative form of government than is a narrow executive and judicial policy."

The principle and the policy which induced Mr. Harding to release the Chicago prisoners apply to the cases of the Sacramento and other prisoners. In addition to the opinions expressed by leading men thoroughly familiar with the constitutional and legal phases of the cases, Senator Pepper of Pennsylvania, who stands in the first rank of American lawyers, made a special study of the Sacramento cases, and reported his findings to the President. Senator Pepper urged "the immediate and unconditional release of all the remaining political prisoners," including the Sacramento group.

"THE MYSTERIOUS STRANGER"

(From the Louisville Courier-Journal.)

Explaining why, in response to the appeal of a delegation of amnesty workers, he had made a special study of these cases and how he arrived at his conclusions, Senator Pepper said:

The presence of these men in jail is a challenge to an American lawyer's loyalty to his profession. I went into their cases not as a Senator, but as an American citizen and a lawyer. No lawyer can afford to be indifferent to cases affecting human liberty, the maintenance of which must depend on the regularity of our criminal proceedings.

The late President's order was incomplete. It remains for President Coolidge to finish the work of vindicating justice and liberty in the United States. The question of releasing the remaining prisoners, thrown into jail for long terms under the espionage act, now rests with his conscience and judgment. We repeat the opinions we submitted to his predecessor and emphasize the appeal for amnesty because the ground of action is stronger now than it ever was before.

The release of some of the political prisoners is in itself a convincing argument for the release of all, because all the cases stand on precisely the same ground.

The espionage act has been repealed. It is no longer law. The country is no longer in danger. If there was ever a reason for imprisoning these men, that reason has passed. They were tried and convicted in a time of passion, when the tendency was to take extreme measures against any man who seemed to stand in the way of success in the war, and who expressed opinions contrary to the thought and feeling of the mass of citizens. Their sentences ran as high as 30 years. A calm review of these trials and sentences has forced the conclusion that they were grossly unjust. The men have suffered grievously for opinion's sake. Five of the Sacramento prisoners have died in jail. One was driven insane. Two have contracted tuberculosis.

We beg to remind Mr. Coolidge, as we reminded Mr. Harding, that the policy of amnesty was the policy of Lincoln and Grant in the War of the Rebellion. It has been the policy of every civilized nation except the United States, which boasts of its democracy and its constitutional guarantees of liberty.

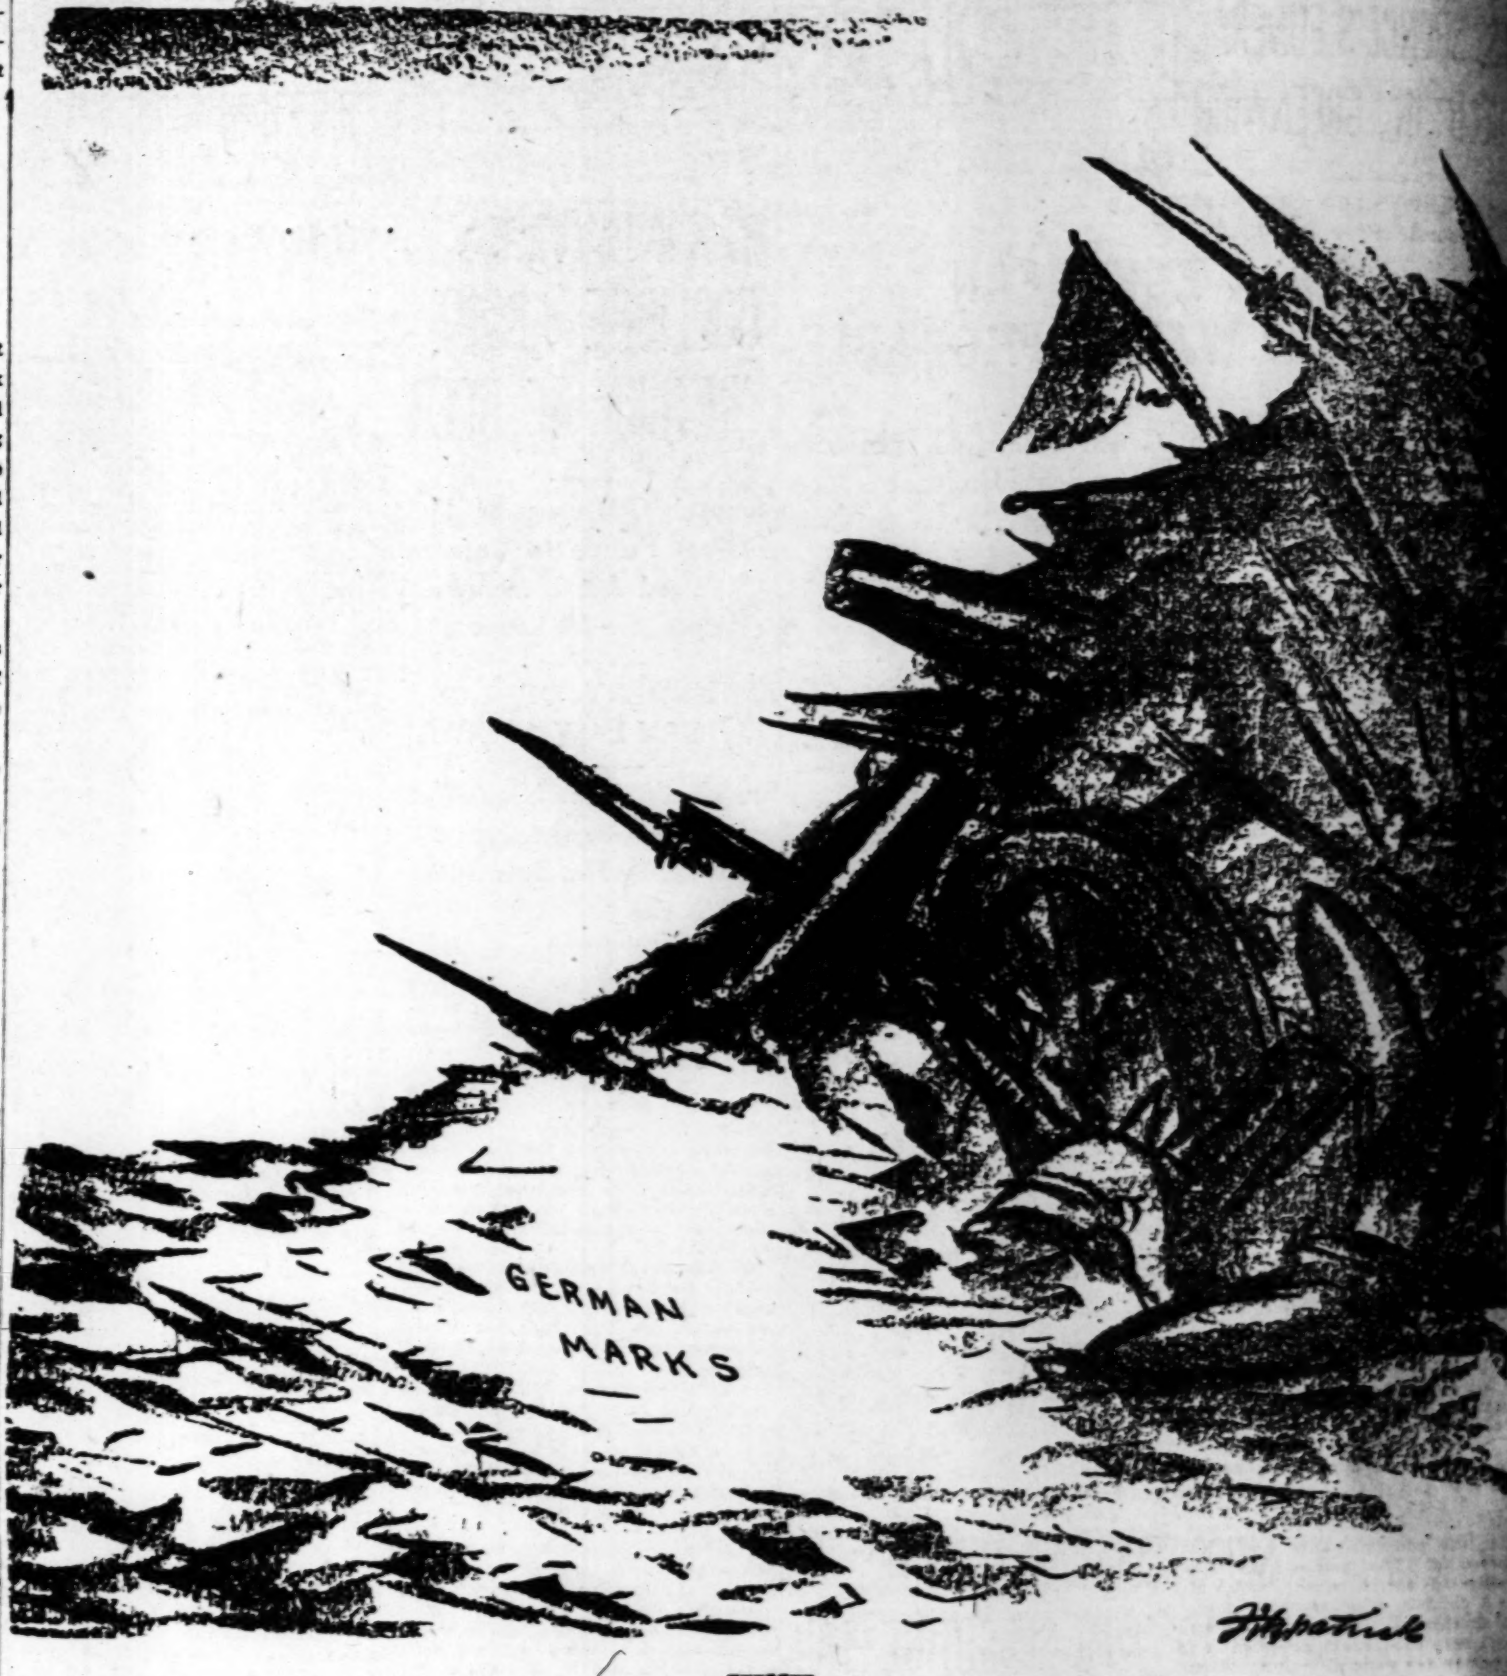

Mr. Coolidge has been reared in the cradle of liberty. No act would more become his assumption of the high office of President than the vindication of American justice and American liberty by freeing all the political prisoners.

REASON AND PASSION.

Premier Poincare is addressing the problems of the future by recalling the wrongs of the past. In his two speeches at Marville and Stenay last Sunday his defense of his Ruhr policy consisted in parading before the minds of his auditors all that they had suffered by the German invasion and by opening and irritating old wounds. "When one recalls the abominable treatment the Germans inflicted on us," he said, "one is amazed at their effrontery which is seeking to efface these crimes."

While Poincare rants on admitted misconduct and abuses of the past the world is suffering to get back to work, children are starving, the seeds of future war are being sown. The British Government is appealing to reason to make the only settlement possible in the circumstances, while the American Government watches from a concrete dugout. The passion of Poincare and the reasoning of Baldwin cannot grapple, for they are stuff of a different substance. If France will not see reason it must become the victim of its own blind fury.

Senator Borah has approved the idea of the American Peace Award created by Mr. Bok. It is to be understood, however, that the Senator from Idaho includes "reservations" on his part to any specific scheme the Peace Award Committee may recommend.

CHEMICAL FOOD OF THE FUTURE.

THE speculations of Prof. J. B. S. Haldane with regard to the future, reproduced in the August Century under the title, "If You Were Alive in 2123 A. D.," are more daring than those of H. G. Wells. With regard to chemical substances used as stimulants or as actual foods, he calls attention to a German discovery during the war. A Frankfurt University professor found that a dose of about 1 gram of acid sodium phosphate increased a man's capacity for prolonged muscular work by about 20 per cent. It can be taken over very lengthy periods. A group of coal miners took it for nine months on end with very great effect on their output. An overdone merely acts as a purgative, and Prof. Haldane asserts that it was used as a stimulant for the German shock troops. On one occasion they got too heavy a dose, with lamentable results. Commenting on the use of tobacco and other mild stimulants, he says: "Tobacco has slight, but definite, effects on the character. Coffee houses in London in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, and cafes in modern Europe, were and are civilizing influences of incalculable value. But these substances are obnoxious to a certain type of mind. It would perhaps be fantastic to suggest that Sir Walter Raleigh owed his death in part to his sovereign's objection to tobacco. But if he is not its proto-martyr, it is at least probable that men have died for tobacco smoking at the hands of Sikhs, Senousis and Wahabists, whose religions forbid this practice, than died under the Roman empire for professing Christianity. Should it ever be generally realized that temperance is a mean, we may expect that mankind will ultimately have at its disposal a vast array of substances, like wine, coffee and tobacco, whose intelligent use can add to the amenity of life and promote the expression of man's higher faculties.

"But before that day comes, chemistry will be applied to the production of a still more important group of physiologically active substances, namely, foods. The facts about food are rather curious. Everyone knows that food is ultimately produced by plants, though we may get it at second or third hand if we eat animals or their products. But the average plant turns most of its sugar into starch, which is digestible, but into cellulose, which is not, but forms its woody skeleton. The hooved animals have deals with this problem in their own way by turning their bellies into vast hives of bacteria that attack cellulose, and on whose by-products they live. We have got to do the same, but outside our bodies. It may be done on chemical lines. Irvine has obtained a 95 per cent yield of sugar from cellulose, but at a prohibitive cost. Or we may use micro-organisms. But in any case, within the next century sugar and starch will be about as cheap as sawdust. Many of our foodstuffs, including the proteins, we shall probably build up from simpler sources, such as coal and atmospheric nitrogen. I should be inclined to allow 125 years, but not much more, before a completely satisfactory diet can be produced in this way on a commercial scale.

"This will mean that agriculture will become a luxury, and that mankind will be completely urbanized. Synthetic food will substitute the flower garden and the factory for the dunghill and the slaughter house, and make the city at last self-sufficient. "Oh, there's many a valiant farmer whose heart would break in two if he could see the townland that we are riding to. Boughs have their fruit and blossom at all times of the year. Rivers are running over with red beer and brown beer. An old man plays the bagpipes in a golden and silver wood. Queens, their eyes blue like the ice, are dancing in a crowd."

WE are told in the annual report of the Rockefeller Foundation that the decline of Greece and Rome was probably due to the malarial mosquito. This will surprise most of us who worked out at graduation an entire agreement with what the Foundation thinks. It is making medical science respected in far-away parts of the world utterly abandoned up to this time to disease and death, and if Mr. Rockefeller can at last die acclaimed as a benefactor to humankind any prior conception we may have had about what happened Greece or Rome is not too much to give up to this desirable end. What puzzles us is that seeing the way the thing is going more of the great monopolies do not wash themselves whiter than snow in war upon house flies, rats and other unquestioned carriers of plague. How much more tolerant were we all of Judge Gary, despite our suspicions of sophistry when he promises abolition of the 13-hour day. If by his hand and that of the Steel Corporation we were without the necessity any longer to live in the midst of fly traps and defend our lives with tangiefol. Or imagine how much less we would resent the price of sugar if the Sugar Trust should rid the country of ants! Mr. Rockefeller was not merely the first great pioneer in the art of acquiring unlimited money. He has also shown us how to wash it.

I WALKED beside a field of golden grain, The dewdrops glistened in the rosy morn; Through heavily laden orchards down a lane, Where earth gave forth a wealth of yellow corn.

I saw the snow-capped mountain far above, The green and peaceful valley down below; The red rose nodded messages of love To all who cared along her way to go.

Sunshine and rain, the light on yonder hill; Blossom and fruit, the scented path I trod; The bounteous earth proclaimed the Master's will That man should share in this, the work of God.

I walked beside a narrow tear-wet street, Where unmolested the grim reaper strolled; Where hungry little mortals dared to meet The stress of summer nor the winter's cold.

I saw where virtue to the market went For what by honest toil could not be hers; Where children labored, eyes and bodies bent, And gave to greed what rightfully was theirs. Hunger, despair, crushed hearts and prison walls:

Was aught of this within the Master's plan? Shall we come before Him when He calls And claim it for our own, the work of man? "Oh, there's many a valiant farmer whose

WOOD AND THE FILIPINOS.

From the Louisville Courier-Journal.

WHEN President Harding, in 1921, commissioned Gen. Wood and former Gov. Frazier to investigate and report upon the question whether or not the Philippines were fit for political independence, the predicate was laid for the issue that is now joined at Manila. More than five years before Gen. Wood set out on that mission the Jones act had declared that "it was never the intention of the people of the United States in the incipency of the war with Spain to make a war of conquest or of territorial aggrandizement," and that "it has always been the purpose of the people of the United States to withdraw their sovereignty over the Philippine Islands and to recognize their independence as soon as a stable Government can be established therein." On Dec. 1, 1920, President Wilson, in his message to Congress, said: "Allow me to call your attention to the fact that the people of the Philippine Islands have succeeded in maintaining a stable Government since the last action of the Congress of 1916, and that thus they have fulfilled the condition set by the Congress as precedent to a consideration of granting independence to the islands. I respectfully submit that this condition precedent having been fulfilled, it is imperative that the United States should now proceed to grant independence to the islands."

In making that suggestion Mr. Wilson walked in the path of international honor. He had been trodden by the feet of Mr. McKinley respecting Cuba. Both these Presidents conspicuously demanded of the American Congress that the nation's sacred pledge to a weaker people be scrupulously kept.

Because of the partisan membership of the Congress addressed by Mr. Wilson this message was denied consideration. The Republican majority insisted that the subject of Philippine independence go over to the Harding administration. * * * When the Wood-Frazier report, unfavorable to independence, was made in December, 1921, indignation broke out in the Philippines. Intensifying this spirit of resentment there, Mr. Harding appointed one of the co-authors of his report to be Governor-General of the islands. The autonomy of Leonard Wood which marked his investigation of conditions on the islands has steadily increased throughout his residence at Manila. Naturally, the Philippines deeply resent the dictatorial temper of the present Governor-General. Their demand for his recall is justified.

THE SALMON FISHERY.

From the Detroit Free Press.

SECRETARY HOOVER has reached the conclusion that the salmon fishery, which employs more people and produces a larger revenue than any other industry in Alaska, must be more strongly safeguarded by law or discontinue within a few years. It is the old story told again. Nature is lavish in her bestowal of land, forest, food and minerals, and men have always taken her abundance for inexhaustible wealth. Every region in the United States has had the same experience. Abandoned farms in New England, burnt-over pine land in Michigan, dry oil wells in Ohio, exhausted mines in California all tell the same tale, and much of the wealth which these regions once possessed is gone forever, but Alaska's trouble is less final. The sea is for all practical purposes an inexhaustible source of wealth. Fish will multiply wherever they are allowed to find breeding grounds. Nothing stands in the way of permanent prosperity for the Pacific unless except human folly and that is something that can be controlled.

MISS SPENCE'S FUNERAL
HELD IN GREENWICH

Head of Girls' School Organized Elaborate Program of Child Adoption.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

GREENWICH, Conn., Aug. 14.—Simple funeral services were held Sunday in Christ Church, here, for Miss Clara B. Spence, 61 years old, head of the Spence School for Girls, New York, who died Thursday at her Greenwich home.

Next fall a large number of the 900 alumnae of the school, one of the best-known girls' schools in the country, will meet in special memorial service to honor the memory of a woman who was not only the guide and friend of more than one generation of school girls, but the leader in a quiet work considered of great importance. Plans will be made at that time to enlarge and work along the lines of which Miss Spence used to dream.

Miss Spence was known in two capacities—as head of the Spence School, where the daughters of millionaires learn not only the three Rs, but the manners and ideals of gentlemen, and also as the organizer of a far-reaching program of child adoption.

Found Homes for Children.
Her interest in her pupils led her to an interest in homeless babies and childless homes. She adopted several children, both boys and girls, of whom the majority today are happily settled in homes of their own. The youngest, whom she called Margaret Spence, was graduated last June from the school.

She organized the Spence Alumnae Society for the work, and today this group carries on a sort of clearing house business in child adoption.

Childless homes in every State and in several foreign countries write to the society, which has headquarters at No. 232 East Sixty-second street, New York, asking for children to adopt. The society finds them as quickly as it can. Generally there is a waiting list of 100 or more preferred homes.

The real parentage of children that go into these homes is generally unknown to their foster-parents. Only children subjected to rigid health tests and kept for a time under the society's care are thus disposed of. The homes also are investigated as to what they can give a child in educational and social advantages. Names of adopting parents are rarely revealed, and the homes are generally those of socially and financially prominent people. Many persons who figure today in the social register were unknown waifs when infants.

Organized British Society.

More than 700 children have passed through the society's hands since its organization in 1914.

Two years ago Miss Spence became interested in adoption conditions in England, where, because of legal difficulties, there were more babies than homes. She organized the British-American Adoption Society to co-operate with the National Adoption Society of England, and brought over some 15 babies for adoption here.

Miss Spence's friends and alumnae originally had planned a $200,000 endowment fund to endow a room in her name in the society's house. But it is now probable that the child death, that the sum will be greatly increased and the money used to enable destitute mothers to support their own children at home, as Miss Spence believed in keeping the child with its family whenever possible.

Miss Spence was born in Albany in 1862, a daughter of William Douglas Spence and Anne Tallman. Only children, she was a member of the High School and received her A. B. from Boston University in 1879, next going post-graduate work at London University. She established her school in 1891. She was a trustee of Barnard College and the League for Political Education, and one of the founders of the Oratorio Society and the Young People's Symphony Orchestra. Her interest in politics led her in 1912 to make her first political speech in behalf of Surgeon John P. Cohan.

She had been ill since last commencement, and had been unable to go to her summer home at Bar Harbor.

$584,568 HAS BEEN COLLECTED
FOR THE COMMUNITY FUND

Individual Subscriptions Far Exceed Amounts of Other Pledges—Total Is $1,114,779.

Pledges amounting to $1,114,779 were on the books of the Community Fund of St. Louis July 31, according to statement prepared yesterday by the auditing department of the fund. Of this amount, $584,568.90 had been collected on that date, or approximately 51 per cent of the amount pledged.

The greatest amount of pledges and the most money has come into the fund from the individual. Subsequent Division, the largest in the campaign organization of last March. The division has pledged amounting to $1,042,952.02, of which 90 per cent have been paid, or a total of $938,656.96. A total of $44,997.10 has been subscribed from five other campaign divisions, the Industrial, Mercantile, Financial, Public, and utility employee divisions.

The statement also shows that the Community Fund has been able to fulfill its pledge to the public to make the money for the 4th charitable campaign which federated the appeals would be raised at a cost of not more than 2 per cent. Administration expenses of the fund up to July 31 were less than 2 per cent of the total.

SAID TO ADMIT KILLING WIFE AND MOTHER-IN-LAW*New Hampshire Man Charged With Murder After Dismembered Bodies Are Found in a Field.

By the Associated Press. MEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 14.—Nunio G. Teakos of Franklin, N. H., was arrested early today charged with murder, after two boxes containing the dismembered bodies of two women were found in a field here. The police said Teakos had confessed that he killed his wife, Natalie, and her mother, Mrs. Katherine Adams, last Saturday night.

According to the alleged confession, Teakos quarreled with his wife and her mother, at their home in Franklin, over money matters, and he declared they attacked him with a bat and knife. He said he overpowered them and then stabbed his wife and cut Mrs. Adams' throat. He dragged their bodies to the cellar.

Sunday, the confession continues, he took his three small children and was driven to Boston in an automobile by Charles A. Clarke of Franklin. He left the children at his mother's home and returned home Sunday night, he said, he dismembered the two bodies and put them in wooden boxes, nailing the covers down.

Teakos told the police that Monday Clarke drove him to Boston again, with the two boxes in the car. Last night, Clarke told the police, he became suspicious as to the contents of the boxes. On a pretext he stopped the car and notified a policeman, who said he would report the matter. Clarke said he then decided to drive on.

Late at night the two men reached West Medford. Clarke said Teakos carried the boxes into a field. While he was doing this, Clarke put his finger into a hole in one of the boxes and thought he felt flesh. He ran down the street and told his story to a policeman.

Early today a policeman saw a man running down a street, evidently intent to board a trolley car. He placed him under arrest and took him to the police station. There the man admitted that he was Teakos.

This August Sale of Fine Clothes planned months ago

IT OPENS TOMORROW AT 8:30

IT'S one of the greatest things we've put over for St. Louis men. We knew our regular stock would be pretty well depleted at this time, so we arranged with Hart Schaffner &
Marx to have fresh new merchandise for us now.

We expected our store would be completed
so we could have a big August celebration.

The store isn't quite ready—but the clothes
are here, so we're going ahead anyway.

The price reductions will open your eyes;
you'll be even more pleased with the fine quality of the goods. Many new fall weights and styles; sizes and prices for everyone.

If Dempsey Should Win on a Foul, We Naturally Will Expect the Pampas Bull to Beef About It

Firpo Stops Charley Weinert In 4 Minutes and 49 Seconds; Victim Completely Outclassed

After an Even First Round, the Pampas Bull Steams Up in the Second and Crashes Through Enemy's Defense for Four Knockdowns, the Last for a "Kayo."

By Bert Igoe,
Of the New York World Sport Staff.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 14.—Luis Firpo blazed away through Charley Weinert's all but perfect defense here last night and smashed the Newark Adonis to the floor in two rounds. Weinert, graceful and choiceful of dash and technique, was smacked cross-eyed before he had time to "call his shots" on the Argentinian.

After an even round of fiddling, rushing and jabbing, Weinert set out on the second round as confident as could be. He didn't last long after a sprightly spring from his chair. Firpo, bristling like a human porcupine, sent him whirling on his ear four times in a row and with no gentle landing, now missing, but always driving his man before him like some giant wind sweeping a grove of saplings. He carried on irresistibly, a mad bull crashing his way through a Dresden china shop.

Weinert an Easy Victim.

If Homer Smith stayed, let it be said that Weinert was whisked out of the picture, a victim of Firpo's wrath, perhaps following the criticism that trailed his bout with the Artful Dodger of Kalamazoo.

If, in the opinion of public and promoters in general, Firpo's choice to meet Dempsey hinged on the bout with Weinert, Luis tore the hinges out by the roots.

Weinert did not hit him hard. Weinert did not have a ghost of a chance to do so. The man who will bring Firpo down must be a hitting flash. It remains to be seen if Dempsey can turn that trick.

The crowd was estimated at 23,000. Firpo, actually smiling, came first to the ring. Jimmy De Forest was not behind him. In his stead was "Scotty" Monteth. Firpo was unshaven and as formidable looking as ever. He sat scowling, looking across the ring at the Adonis who trailed him into the ring. Pop O'Brien came as referee. Weinert, pale, sat quietly looking Firpo over. When they doffed their robes, Firpo loomed up in purple satin, lighted Weinert wearing black cotton trunks with a high belt of black rubber.

The fight by rounds:
ROUND 1.—Weinert brought blood from Firpo's nose with straight lefts and the South American gave way, clinching as they fell into the ropes. Firpo launched the heavy right swings to the body and followed with right to head and one to body without damage, they were both slightly winded when the bell rang.

ROUND 2.—Firpo rushed wildly at Weinert and they clinched. Firpo landed right to the body. Weinert jabbed lightly. Weinert got in an upper cut to the jaw. Firpo landed right and they clinched. Firpo upper cut and staggered Weinert, knocking him down for the count of nine. Twice more Weinert kissed the canvas. Firpo rushed Weinert after he came up, landed a right and landed flush on his jaw, sending him to the canvas for the full count after 1 minute and 49 seconds of fighting.

ROUND 3.—Firpo rushed wildly at Weinert and they clinched. Firpo landed right to the body. Weinert jabbed lightly. Weinert got in an upper cut to the jaw. Firpo landed right and they clinched. Firpo upper cut and staggered Weinert, knocking him down for the count of nine. Twice more Weinert kissed the canvas. Firpo rushed Weinert after he came up, landed a right and landed flush on his jaw, sending him to the canvas for the full count after 1 minute and 49 seconds of fighting.

The Business Men's Athletic Association will attempt to revive boxing officially, this afternoon when it applies to the City Boxing Commission for a sanction to hold a boxing show at the Battery A drill yard on Aug. 23. This is the first attempt by one of the major clubs to stage a show since Gov. Hyde ordered the Firpo-Cowley bout stopped here about two weeks ago.

The promoter finds himself in a dilemma, at the present time, Chairman Harry Uhlmeier of the City Boxing Commission says that he will continue to award titles to clubs which apply for them and that the boxing game is still on its feet, despite a wallow to its prestige.

Gov. Hyde, who was in St. Louis yesterday, said that he had no objection to boxing matches but that prize fights would not be tolerated. He said that he would insist upon a strict interpretation of the law and that bouts to decide the general public were admitted and where the boxer fought for a money prize or otherwise could be classified as "prize fights" they would not be tolerated.

He said that boxing matches witnessed by bona fide members of a regularly organized club came within the law, according to his understanding of it.

Will Consult Attorney General.
As to the compensation a boxer might receive, the Governor was in doubt. He said that he had not gone thoroughly into the provisions of the statute and proposed to ask Attorney General Barrett for an opinion of the exact status of boxing in this State under the anti-prize fight law.

Gov. Hyde said that his action in the Firpo-Cowley fight was "dictated at that match alone," because he was convinced it was a "prize fight." He said it was not a blanket order against all boxing; but that clubs should have to come within the law. Meanwhile, promoters are proceeding gingerly in the matter of holding contests. It is certain that the next few shows at least will present bona fide talent only.

"Dare Devil" Dan Taylor and "Bud" McFalls will be the principals in the main bout of the Business Men's A. A. contest for the commission awards it the date it seeks.

Firpo's Next Jump To Indianapolis Where He Meets Joe Downey

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 14.—Luis Angel Firpo, contender for Jack Dempsey's heavyweight title, who last night knocked out Charley Weinert of Newark, N. J., in the second round, will leave tonight for Indianapolis for his fight with Joe Downey. He plans to return to New York on time to meet his new trainer, Horatio Lavalle, who will arrive from Buenos Aires, on Aug. 18. Weinert was outclassed by the South American last night. From the opening gong, when, with a snap, Firpo rushed to the center of the ring, the fight was his. Despite many wild swings and the fact that Weinert landed a few good ones.

They posed for flashlights and then the bell rang. The weights were announced as 185 for Weinert and 212 for Firpo.

The fight by rounds:

ROUND 1.—Weinert brought blood from Firpo's nose with straight lefts and the South American gave way, clinching as they fell into the ropes. Firpo launched the heavy right swings to the body and followed with right to head and one to body without damage, they were both slightly winded when the bell rang.

Browns' First Baseman Viewing Game From Box

This picture of the world's greatest player of 1922 was "snapped" at the Grotto-Shrine game yesterday, while Sisler was talking to Walter Fritsch, vice president of the Browns. Sisler yesterday declined to take a "time at bat" or to umpire, as it was announced, without his authority that he would do. Sisler plays golf and drives his automobile. If his eyes are sufficiently recovered, he will probably be offered the Browns team management next season.

Danforth to Be Closely Watched, Johnson Hints

League President Declares Browns' Pitcher Will Do No More "Tampering."

Dave Danforth, if he really is guilty of "tampering" with the ball, will lead a trying life at the hands of the umpires, henceforth. Ban Johnson is on his trail and when Ban starts, something happens.

In a telegram to the Post-Dispatch, answering questions put to him concerning Danforth, the American League's boss intimated that the entire staff had been too lenient with Dave, but that henceforth would concentrate on him.

It is the belief of President Johnson that Danforth is a wonderful pitcher who finds it hard to step straight according to the rules. He can, however, pitch winning ball without the aid of freak stuff.

President Johnson's telegram to the Post-Dispatch follows:

J. E. Wray,
Sports Editor Post Dispatch.
Answering your telegram, Danforth was automatically reinstated at the termination of his ten days' suspension. He is eligible to pitch. Should he again violate pitching rules and be removed from the game he will experience another automatic suspension of ten days and without salary.

American League umpires have been entirely too indulgent with Danforth but from now until the season closes there will be no tampering with the ball as far as Danforth is concerned. He has a mania for "doctoring" the ball and to me it appears that he is incurable. Early in the season he was sent to my office and I congratulated him on his clean work but in a short time he fell from grace.

BYRON B. JOHNSON.
Johnson yesterday had a long talk with Lee Fohl, who went to Chicago to tell what he knew about Dave and to explain his grievance against the wording of the telegram from President Phil Ball dismissing him as manager of the St. Louis team.

Pruett's Arm in Plaster Cast As Result of Using "Fadeaway"; Ty Cobb's Prophecy Fulfilled

Browns' Plucky Little Hurler Will Be Idle for Long Time and May Have to Develop Some Other Specialty, to Remain in Baseball—Most Pitchers Refuse to Throw Reverse Curve.

By Dent McKimmin.
When Hubert Pruett started the baseball world with his spectacular "fadeaway" last season, many fans were moved to ask: "Why can't any other pitcher develop a 'fadeaway'?"

The answer may be found in the present condition of Pruett's arm. He has the left elbow encased in a plaster cast now and it is probable that Dr. Robert F. Hyland will find it necessary to forbid the little southpaw from throwing a curve ball for several weeks.

It is Pruett's belief that the constant strain on the elbow which pitching the "fadeaway" entails has resulted in injury to the tendons surrounding the joint.

"Bonesetter" Reese worked on the arm early in the season and gave the pitcher considerable relief. He instructed Pruett not to throw a curve ball for nine days. The arm felt so well and strong after three days of rest that Pruett, eager to get back in the game to help his team, put everything he owned into every pitch. As a result, his arm was again limp and useless after a few days.

Cast Forces Pruett to Rest Arm.
Pruett made a special trip to Youngstown, O., last week in an effort to see "Bonesetter" Reese again, but the famous arm-doctor had departed on a trip to Europe.

Pruett's temperament is such that it is impossible for him to give his arm real rest unless it is placed in a cast. He likes to be continually handling a baseball and tossing objects from one hand to the other. He developed his fadeaway by just such methods of constant throwing and experimenting.

Although he is not capable of throwing a "fast" ball, Pruett owns a good curve of the orthodox type. It is possible, since he is a very determined youngster and a real student of pitching, that he may find a way to pitch without the "fadeaway."

Lee Fohl, recently deposed manager of the Browns, arrived in St. Louis shortly before noon today and went immediately to Sportman's Park, where he talked with Bill Friel, business manager of the club.

Fohl is here presumably to demand an explanation from Owner Phil Ball of the phrasing of the message, which converted the news of Fohl's dismissal. Ball's telegram said Fohl was dismissed "for the good of the game."

Fohl arrived from Chicago, where he yesterday conferred with Ban Johnson, president of the American League.

Phil Ball is out of the city and it is not known when he will return.

St. Louis Soccer Stars Barred From Places on Olympic Team By Strict Eligibility Rules

Practically All Leading Municipal "Amateurs" Here Are Reinstated Professionals—Present Olympic Plan, Which Provides That the Winner of the Amateur Cup Be Sent Abroad, May Be Altered.

By Herman Wecke.

With the present tour of the West by Thomas W. Cahill, secretary of the U. S. F. A., in an effort to raise funds to send a United States soccer team to the Olympic meet at Paris in 1924, new interest has been aroused in the possible makeup of the eleven that will represent the United States against the best of foreign nations.

Cahill raised some money during his stay in St. Louis and to date has collected close to $2000, through his own efforts. This will go toward the fund needed to send the aggregation.

Now the question arises: "What chance has St. Louis of being represented on the eleven?"

Under the present arrangement there seems little chance that this city, although the Municipal teams are regarded as the best in the country, will be represented.

At the meeting of the U. S. F. A. held at Cleveland, in May, it was decided to send the eleven that won the Amateur Challenge Cup competition to Paris. However, this probability will be changed so that the eleven will be an all-star aggregation.

Eligibility Rules Affect St. Louis. This would seem to give St. Louis a better chance. But does it? Right here the U. S. F. A. amateur challenge Cup competition rules come into play. And under Rule V, which has to do with eligibility of amateurs the following is found:

1. A member in good standing of his club or a properly enrolled member of an institution his club represents.

2. He must not be a former professional who has been reinstated as an amateur player.

3. He must not be a professional in a sport other than football in this or a foreign country.

4. He must not accept money for loss of time.

5. He must not accept money over actual traveling and per diem expenses as allowed by U. S. F. A. regulations.

6. He must not accept money over actual expenses as allowed by U. S. F. A. regulations when officiating as referee, linesman, delegate or while holding an office.

These above laws seem to work a hardship on the chances of St. Louis' municipal players obtaining a place. Against many of the stars of the Municipal League are those who have been in the professional league and then turned back.

Many Municipals Have Been "Pros." This, under Section 2 of Rule V, would make the player a professional and thereby render him ineligible for competition in the amateur cup series and a chance for a place on the Olympic team.

Then other members of the Municipal League teams play baseball during the summer for which they receive remuneration. That would place them under Section 3 and again would render them ineligible.

So it seems that the only chance St. Louis has of landing a place on the eleven, if an all-star aggregation is finally decided upon, will rest in the development of new stars who have not participated as members of professional soccer or baseball teams.

The Olympic Committee of the U. S. F. A. is made up of Col. Manning, Cahill and W. R. Cummings of Chicago. No regular meeting as to what

Argentine's String Of Conquests in Sport World Grows

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The Argentine has become one of the world's great nations of sport.

First came a band of horsemen in quest of world honors in the game of polo. Luis Lacey, J. D. Nelson, J. Miles and Davis Miles won title honors in England, and came to the United States to win the open championship. Then came Luis Angel Firpo, who bowled over many of America's 200-pound pugilists, and now is about to gain a chance at the world title held by Jack Dempsey.

Argentine entered the tennis lists, sending a team to Europe to play in the elimination contests of the Davis Cup preliminaries. The South Americans played well but were eliminated by the Swiss team.

Now there is Enrique Tirabocchi, who swam the English Channel. Enrique set a record time upon the feat, 16 hours and 33 minutes. Other men had negotiated the channel, but all started from the English shore. Enrique is called the "Iron man of the Argentine."

Luis Lacey was named leader of the "Four horsemen of the Argentine."

Firpo is known as the "Wild Bull of the Pampas."

JOIE RAY, BROOKINS AND IOWA RELAY MEN RUN AT MASON CITY

By the Associated Press.

MASON CITY, Ia., Aug. 14.—Charles Brookins of the University of Iowa, Joie Ray, champion miler, and the world title-holding mile relay team of Iowa, all will threaten present world records in the American Legion meet, to be staged here Thursday.

Brookins will attempt to lower his world mark in the 220-yard hurdle race and will also run in the 200-meter distance. The Iowa relay team will be opposed by a team composed of Volterra of Ames, Hagen of Northwestern and Spink and Fitch of Illinois.

Ray will be placed in a special mile by Platt of Eagle Grove and Abel of Mason City, the two fastest high school milers of the state. Ray Watson, Kansas Aggie star, now running under Illinois A. C. colors, is expected to meet Ray in the mile, but Joie objected because of his heavy schedule and the fact that they will compete two days later in the A. A. U. championships at Detroit.

President Winton Barker of the St. Louis League, who also is a member of the National Games Committee of the U. S. F. A., will make a suggestion that this season the local eleven be drawn against others in their district for the early rounds. Instead of first being forced to eliminate each other.

If the suggestion of Barker is accepted by Andrew Breese of a Thompson Athletic Institute in France in connection with the 1924 Olympic games may prevent that country from challenging for the Davis Cup next year, according to Allan H. Muhr, captain and manager of the French Davis Cup team, which will oppose Australia here Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Muhr discussed a proposal, which he said was now before the International Tennis Federation, that some other plan than annual competition be adopted to decide the ownership of the Davis Cup, in view of the heavy expense at present entailed by challenging countries.

50 MEN REGISTER OR 4-YEAR COACHING COURSE

URBANA, Ill., Aug. 14.—Although the University of Illinois does not open until the middle of September, more than 50 high school graduates have obtained permits to register in the four-year course in athletic coaching. This seems to indicate a record-breaking freshman class in the course which will open its fifth year.

Approximately two hours a day are devoted to class work in athletic courses. The rest of the time is occupied with academic work designed to fill the special needs of a coach by giving him a well-rounded education.

Johnston Saving His Strength for National Singles

California Player's Friends Swamp Him With Appeals to Avoid Burning Himself Out.

By Lawrence Perry.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Back of Johnston's decision not to participate in the annual invitation tournament now in progress on the Casino courts at Newport lies an interesting story. Johnston declined the bid to compete in the important Newport tourney as a result of the intercession of California friends, who decided he had been too good-natured and was burning himself out.

Not only did he receive scores of telegrams from his native state warning him that he was repeating the mistake of past years when the national singles found him lacking in stamina and sustained driving power, but it is said that two close friends packed their bags and came East to add their personal appeals. As a result Johnston, very wisely, is resting up for the Davis cup matches and the national singles event at Germantown.

Down to 111 Pounds.

It will be recalled that when Little Bill arrived here from the Pacific coast he weighed more than 120 pounds and looked in splendid condition. He went abroad, winning the hard court title at St. Cloud and then at Wimbledon won the world's championship title in singles.

Returning to this country he entered American tournaments, coming finally to the important tournament at Seabright, which was played in extremely hot weather. Steadily his weight fell off until in the finals he weighed hardly more than 111 pounds, well below normal weight.

Now there is no more popular tennis player in the East than Johnston and demands for his services are heavy. Johnston has a certain feeling of obligation to participate in as many matches as he can in order to help insure their success. This attitude has been appreciated by California enthusiasts. None the less, they have the feeling that he was sapping that reserve strength which must be drawn upon in the gruelling matches that mark the crucial features of the season.

Tennis and Climate.

Watching the American women tennis stars as they clinched their triumph over the British women on the turf courts at Forest Hills in the first annual match for the Hazel Wrightman cup, one marked the ease with which victory was accomplished. Then forthwith the minds turned to the similar ease with which these same British players had disposed of our American performers in France and England earlier in the season.

The answer, as the writer has often pointed out, lies in the realm of acclimatization. Evidently you cannot transplant the position of a game so strenuous as lawn tennis and expect—at least within a month—approximation of their real form.

DEMPSEY SWIMS AND DOES ROAD WORK IN PREPARING FOR FIRPO

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, S. A. TUGA LAKE, N. Y., Aug. 14.—Road work, shadow boxing, bag punching and a swim in the lake interested Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, yesterday.

Dempsey's sparring partners have begun reporting in, among them Joe Benjamin, who is expected to take on the champion for practice bout tomorrow or next day, when Dempsey inaugurates heavy training work for his match on Sept. 14 with Luis Angel Firpo in New York.

SHRINE TEAM DEFEATS GROTTO IN ANNUAL CHARITY BALL GAME

Although all of the advertised features were not forthcoming, the Grotto-Shrine annual baseball game at Sportman's Park was successfully conducted before a crowd of close to 10,000 persons. The printed program and advance notices said that George Sisler and Nick Altrock would take part in the festivities, but Sisler was unable to take his place at the bat when Gov. Hyde pitched the first ball, and Altrock was present at a Washington.

The Shrine team won the game, 10 to 7. Drills by the Zouaves and music from two large bands added to the color of the occasion. Gov. Hyde occupied a box in the grand stand after he had started the game by pitching the first ball to Potentate Gray of the Shriners.

WOODRING DECIDES TO POSTPONE RETIREMENT

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Allan Woodring, Olympic 200-meter champion, who announced last June that he was through with running, has decided to continue his athletic career until after the Olympic games, he said today. He will immediately go into training for the pre-Olympic games of the Wilco A. A. to be held at the Yankee Stadium, Sept. 5. He will run in the 200-meter, and on the All-East relay team, which will meet an All-West combination at 1900 meters.

ST. PAUL'S CLAIM FOR BOBBY ROTH DENIED

By the Associated Press.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 14.—The St. Paul club of the American Association has been notified that its claim via the waiver route for Bobby Roth, outfielder with Kansas City, has been disallowed by T. J. Hickey, president of the league, it was announced today.

Roth recently was suspended by the Blues, and waivers asked. The reason for denying the Saints' claim was because the waiver had expired before receipt of Mike Kelley's telegram asking for his services.

MIDGET SMITH KNOCKS OUT EDDIE COULON

By the Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 14.—Eddie Coulon of New York knocked out Midget Smith of New Orleans in the eighth round of a scheduled 15-round bout here last night. A hard right swing to the jaw as the youngsters broke from a clinch sent the local man to the floor for the count. Smith was never in trouble.

ARMY DOCTORS UNDER FIRE AFTER OPERATION ON SOLDIER

Amputation of Both Legs of Private Hurt in Auto Accident Is Investigated.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Court-martial proceedings against Major George Cook and Capt. Samuel C. Gwynn, retired, both of the Army Medical Corps, on charges of malpractice, have been ordered by Major General Helmick, Inspector General of the Army, and Surgeon General Ireland. The trial, which is expected to get under way next week, was ordered after an investigation into the treatment given Private Guy Pendleton, whose two legs were amputated while he was in the hospital at Camp Eustis, Va., which at the time was in charge of Major Cook.

Captain Gwynn was in charge of the surgical department. Pendleton suffered injuries to both legs, according to those who made the Investigation, in an automobile accident. After three months' treatment, the amputation was performed.

The operation, according to the investigation findings, occurred a year ago. Since then, Captain Gwynn has been retired.

"I've Got 3,000 Radio Miles in One Hand!"

—and I'm Not Anchored to a Storage Battery, either"

RADIO is going to be lots of fun this summer, because now I've got a set that I can carry with me in one hand—that operates entirely on dry batteries, and wherever I camp, or travel, or settle down for the summer I can listen in on the broadcast of the entire Continent! That's what the new De Forest Portable Reflex has done for me.

Many thousands of wide awake Americans this summer are going to make the same discovery this man has made—that radio has now become as much fun, as easy to enjoy, and as valuable in the summer time as it proved to be last winter—thanks to the De Forest Portable Reflex set.

Here's another thing for you to remember. You don't have to worry about static any more. Static has been discovered to be directional—just like broadcasting, and just as the indoor loop cuts out stations in directions you don't want to hear, so it cuts out practically all the static.

Go see the De Forest Reflex Sets at the De Forest Agency, The D-7-A, at $125, has three tubes and is designed principally for home use. The D-10, at $150, has four tubes and is designed primarily to be carried around. Both of them use the loop without antenna; both of them use either storage battery and dry battery or exclusively dry batteries only. Three twin heavy duty dry cells, at about $2.00 the set, are all the A battery, you need for either of these sets. How's that for real money saving? Both sets have cross-continent range, and are particularly easy to operate. Reflex sets are sweeping the country because of these features.

DE FOREST RADIO TEL. & TEL. CO.

Jersey City, N. J.

De Forest sells only direct to the public, through authorized agents. If you don't know where you can find De Forest sets, write us and we will give you the address of the De Forest agency nearest you.

NOTE: All distance reception in radio is subject to atmospheric conditions. The De Forest Reflex is known as the cross-continent receiver because of its many 1,000-mile records on indoor loop. (Names of operators on request.) According to conditions and in the hands of average operators however these sets vary in reception performance from 1,000 to 3,000 miles.

Some Questions and Answers on De Forest Reflexes

Dry Batteries?

Yes. Either set operates on dry cells alone, or on storage batteries.

Indoor Loop?

Yes. The De Forest Reflex was the set which made the indoor loop popular. No more fussing with wires outside the house.

Cross Continent Range?

Yes. De Forest Reflexes are the only sets in this price class which have uniformly received all the way from Jersey to California on indoor loop.

Easy to Operate?

Yes. No fussing with the complications of the regenerative circuit; no difficult tuning.

Can I Carry It Around?

Yes. In one hand. The Portable set weighs about 20 pounds complete with all its batteries, tubes, and collapsible loop.

Is It a Good Circuit?

Yes. The New York Times Radio Department, says: "The Reflex Circuit has many advantages over the regenerative and radio frequency circuits generally used at the present time." The Times calls the Reflex Circuit "the latest development in radio, fast gaining in popularity." De Forest Reflex is the ideal summer set.

Can I Tune Out Stations I Don't Want?

Yes, with perfect ease you can tune out a powerful near-by station, and receive a station in the same general direction a thousand miles away or more.

TWO DISTINGUISHED AMERICANS

President Coolidge and Sgt. Michael Donaldson, one of the few winners of the Congressional Medal of Honor during the late war. Donaldson journeyed to Washington at his own expense to attend the funeral of President Harding, and when President Coolidge heard he was in the city, he summoned him for a talk, during which he invited him to go to Marion on the official presidential train as his guest to attend the final obsequies.

NEW LUXURY IN AUTOMOBILE TOURING

W. K. Kellogg, Battle Creek (Mich.) breakfast food magnate, is going to visit every state in the Union to be certain of missing none of America's wonders. He has had this car built from his own design, and will live in it with the members of his party. It has berths for four persons, with cooking stove, heating and lighting apparatus, electric fans, screens, refrigerators, bath and all the comforts of home. All kitchen utilities and appointments are concealed in handsome mahogany cabinets when not in use, and the berths are arranged as in a Pullman sleeping car. (1) The car, ready for the road, with its owner, his son and grandson standing alongside it. (2) Looking toward the rear, showing refrigerating machine, stove and dining table. (3) Interior view showing convertible seats and berths. The chauffeur's berth is made up in his own compartment.

Who profits not by what he learns
Sure trouble and misfortune earns.

THE runaway young Chuck who had had such a narrow escape from Redtail the Hawk, had had the first real fright of his life, and it had been a terrible fright. He was so frightened as he lay flat down on the ground under a thick bush that for a moment or two he didn't dare open his eyes. The last thing he saw before he closed them was a terrible creature which seemed to be all claws, fierce eyes, hooked bill and great,
flapping wings. To that terrified little Chuck, Redtail had looked many times as big as he really was.

When he did open his eyes again
the little Chuck at first saw nothing of his terrible enemy. Then he chanced to look up through the bush under which he was hiding, and there he saw Redtail already high up in the sky. Had it not been that as he watched he saw Redtail grow smaller and smaller as he got further and further away, that little Chuck would have had hard work to believe that that could be the terrible creature
who had so nearly caught him.

Now there is this much about the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows: They got just as terrible frights as boys and girls ever get, but they get over them a great deal quicker. The young Chuck got over his fright almost as soon as Redtail the Hawk was out of sight.
He got over the fright, but he did a lot of thinking.

After a while the young Chuck ventured to move on. He started to go back out in the middle of the Long Lane where it was open and clear and so easy going. Then he hesitated. If I hadn't been out there in the open that fellow wouldn't have seen me," thought he. "It is harder going in here, but as long as I keep under the bushes no one can see me from up in the sky. I guess this is the thing for me to do."

So the young Chuck started on,
but he kept in among the bushes beside the Long Lane. Whenever there was a chance he would look up through them to the sky. He was profling by the lesson his terrible fright had given him. He was taking care not to give Redtail another chance, and he knew right down in his heart that he never would forget that lesson.
All the rest of his life he would remember that the first law of life is safety.

HOT WEATHER COMFORT

By Mrs. Christine Frederick.

A Dozen Ways in Which Hot Weather May Be Met by Small Changes in the Home.

IF the worker in office or store must bear the discomfort of sitting cooped up in sweltering rooms, often with no ventilation, and as a final test endure the jamming of subway or train for an hour until he reaches home, surely he has a right to expect comfort and coolness when he gets there! It certainly is "up to" Mrs. Housewife to see that her family is refreshed by their homcoming, and that each evening
they are "recreated," as it were,
with energy and relaxation in the home atmosphere.

Much can be done to keep the family fit in hot weather by taking care of house arrangements in the best way. The house itself must not be stuffy and hot as Friend Husband enters, and this can be accomplished by keeping the blinds down and the windows shut until about 4 in the afternoon, to the contrary notwithstanding of all those who think that to open wide the windows and let the curtains blow out is the right way to keep cool.
Never! Look at the dwellings in your true South—protected by green shutter or lattice or casements. Keeping heat out is more important than letting air in! It is the shaded, darkened room that is most cool.

Next, don't heat the house just at evening time by cooking a heavy meal requiring much fuel and thus radiating a lot of waste heat into the rooms.
As we have implored for years past,
do most of your cooking in the morning; never have a "fried" dinner,
put your frying pan in moth balls
for the entire summer.

Why Not Broil?
Why not broil anything you wish to fry, because broiling is quicker, less smelly and demands less fire! There is a useful one-burner gas broiler which sets over any too burner to broil anything you usually fry. And for gracious sake, don't have smelly foods cooking as he opens the door—I mean the humble onion and fish and such odorous foods. Have them, but use such cooking methods as will keep them incognito as they cook. And since I begged you last how many have installed that useful window ventilator

to blow stale odors to the back of the beyond and keep the house air cool, sweet and fresh? Please raise hand!

One of our distinguished efficiency men, Mr. Gilbreth, has proved beyond doubt that confusion of any kind creates fatigue. Applied to the home industries it would mean that crowded rooms, loaded tables, too many "things" of every kind will bring about a positive feeling of fatigue to anyone, especially those tired folk returning home already sensitive to confusion and clutter from their own day's work. If you're cutting dress goods and sewing, at least get all sign of it out of the way when the 5 o'clock whistle blows. If you've been doing special cooking, put away
the stack of dishes and utensils long before the latchkey turns. If little Tommy has taken the piano apart or the family clock, or investigated a whole bureau drawer, call the family
"white wing" to sweep the rubbish up before Da-da arrives. And don't forget your dresser top and the desk and the buffet, which too often appear like window displays of a first-class rummage sale! Comfort and confusion cannot exist in the same room.

I'm sure I do not have to urge that dresses be put into summer uniform like anything else if we are to have a feeling of cool restfulness as we enter them. How would we affect persons if we went around wearing furs and flannels when the mercury smiles at 90? Even she elevator boys and the bellhops as well as the ermine and mink change their coats to suit the tide of summer. Why anyone should retain heavy velvet hangings or push cushions or velvet upholstery "in their midst" during the summer season remains a mystery. Of course, many of us do—and, thanks be, more each year—put summer frocks on our chairs and our lounges and our pillows. But why don't we all of us?
Every heavy fabric or dark-colored hanging actually absorbs that much more heat and reradiates it into the room. Avant with velvet; let cretonne take its place!

Summer Dress for House.
But this putting the house into summer dress does not mean the same thing as turning the house into a ma-soleum by shrouding the furniture in gray mummy wrappings, swathing the light fixtures in gauze and turning the room into good imitation of an operating ward. Must so many of our rooms look like the grave in order to appear cool? Not at all. Such deathly, forbidding, gaunt and bare treatment is everything but "uncomfortable"—it is easy to find that lumpy mean of coolness with color, lightness with restfulness, which means easy housekeeping, but which also loses not a jot nor tittle of that spirit-of hospitality and aliveness that even summer must not miss.

Flies—must we speak of them?
Alas! we must; for no room or person can be truly comfortable if annoyed by insects of any pattern. Flies in the home are an indication of slack housekeeping. There are many convenient sprays and powders to blow into the room which promptly rid us of these pests, and proper screening and sterilizing of the garbage pail will also keep down their multiplying. Just before the evening meal slip around the dining table and make sure that no fly lingereth near.

But all these points—good as they may be—are only material. And the housewife must not overlook her own appearance, temper and spirits. This is the one season when meeting lobby

How You Can Keep Slender by Easy Beauty Exercises

By LUCREZIA BORI
The Famous Spanish Prima Donna

LUCKY is the woman who is neither too fat nor too thin, for she is very likely to have a figure near true beauty proportions and to enjoy normal good health. Nature intended that all of us should have sufficient flesh in proportion to our height.

The woman of normal height or the woman who is a trifle tall is in less danger of accumulating unwelcome flesh when she reaches middle age than the woman who is short. For on the small person added flesh is, of course, more conspicuous because there is less territory over which to distribute it.

Women of a few years ago seemed to think there was no way to prevent fat accumulating in ungraceful places, say after they passed 40. They expected this and they did very little to prevent it—and the fat accumulated.
Occasionally, when someone wanted to reduce, she was told that it was dangerous business, and that quick reducing especially was not good for the heart and other organs.

This is true—but why let extra fat creep upon you and then wake up some day and think you must reduce immediately or you will find yourself with unsightly rolls of fat where you do not want them?

Comparatively few years ago, you see, women did not exercise as much as they do now. They did not lead active business lives, which necessitated their going out at the same time every day and being more or less on the alert all day, as many women do now. They played tennis and golf and other athletic games when they were young, but they allowed themselves to age while they were still young, and thought, "I am too old now to do such active things."
Then motors came along, and many women walked less than ever and spent more time driving around in automobiles. Many women today spend far too much time motoring, and, of course, this doesn't make your hips or your waistline any slimmer.

If you regulate your life so that you have certain amounts of work and play and exercise, you should be un-worried about the accumulating fat.
If it tries to creep upon you anyway,
watch your diet and cut down on fatening foods. Eat more green things that supply iron and act as a tonic for your blood and your general spirits.

Here is a simple exercise for your muscles in general that you will find excellent:

Stand erect, hands down at sides
and feet together.

Now lean as far over diagonally forward toward the left as you can,
weight on left foot, arms slightly extended to act as balancers and right leg extended diagonally out at the back.

Return to position and repeat, standing on right foot this time and leaning diagonally forward again.
You lean to the right when on your right foot and to the left when on your left foot. Repeat about six times. This will help you keep slim lines of beauty.

The Rockefeller fortune owes much of its growth to sleep

The most urgent demands of his fortune-building years could not deprive John D. Rockefeller of his regular mid-day rest.
He knew that an alert mind and unworn body are essential to the clear reasoning and calm judgment on which success is built—and that enough sleep is life's most profitable investment.
You may be unable to plan such a rest period. But every night you can make up for the wear and tear on your brain and body, if you will provide yourself with the proper sleep equipment.
Spare a few minutes today to go to your furniture dealer's and compare the bed you sleep on with the Simmons springs and mattresses he offers in many types at very moderate prices.
Don't wait. The longer you postpone such a comparison, the longer you cheat yourself of the deep, restful sleep you need to keep your health, judgment and productive energy above par.

SUCH IS LIFE.

SUMMER time is waning.
Soon we'll cease complaining.
As the mercury recedes from 90 in the shade.
We will watch it tumble.
Then begin to grumble.
As it passes zero in its journey down the grade.

There is no denying.
Weather's very trying.
Whether in December or the merry month of May.
Seasons were invented
To make us discontented.
And they all look good to us when they are far away.

Names C. Bascom Slemm,

Surprising Politicians.

SLEMP SAID TO HAVE SOLD PATRONAGE

Charges Against Him by Representative Harrison of Virginia Backed by Canceled Checks and Letters.

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—President Coolidge's announcement late yesterday afternoon that he had appointed C. Bascom Slemm, former Congressman and present Republican National Committeeman for Virginia, as his secretary served notice as plainly as words that Mr. Coolidge is laying his political wires to capture the presidential nomination
in 1924.

The news that Edward T. Clark, who was secretary to Mr. Coolidge as Vice President, had been passed over in favor of the practical Virginia politician, came as an utter surprise to Washington. It was announced that Clark would be retained as the President's personal secretary.

It has been the almost invariable rule for the President to take an secretary some man previously associated with him and familiar with the political conditions of his own section. This was true in the case of Mr. Wilson and Timuley and again in the case of Mr. Harding and Christian. The secretary in each of these instances was considerably younger than his chief.

Slemm not only comes from a part of the country widely removed, geographically and otherwise, from New England, but is two years older than the President. He was in Congress for a long time as the only Republican member from Virginia. He did not run at the last election. Since 1905 he has been chairman of the Virginia State Republican Committee.

He was born in 1870, studied law
at the University of Virginia, taught mathematics and later practiced law at Big Stone Gap, Va., his present home. He is president of the Slemm Coal Co., the Hamilton Realty Co. and other corporations.

President Harding offered him
several posts, including that of Ambassador to Peru, all of which he declined.

A Broker of Patronage.
Washington knows Slemm as an astute politician and a broker of Southern patronage. His selection to aid the President with the title of secretary is generally seen as the first step in an effort to line up Southern delegates for Mr. Coolidge
in 1924.

In the last session of Congress,
Thomas W. Harrison, a Democratic Congressman from Virginia, charged that Federal patronage in that State was being peddled for money by Republican leaders. The accusation was made in the course of a contest brought against Harrison by his Republican opponent, Col. John Paul.

In December last, Paul was seated after a vote in his favor by the Electoral college, headed by Republicans. Harrison had the satisfaction of winning at the last election and will come back to the next Congress.

In the House debate, Harrison produced letters signed by Slemm and his secretary, L. B. Howard, referring to the collection of money and to Federal appointments in Virginia.

Canceled checks shown by Harrison indicated that over $100
had been collected by H. P. Powell, a "go-getter" for the Republican party, and turned over to Slemm and Howard.

Slemm replied to the charges by saying that the money was collected only for the purpose of helping to pay the Republican campaign debts and that the funds had no connection with promises of appointments to office.

The following are samples of the letters read into the Congressional Record by Harrison:
"Committee on Appropriations,
United States House of Representatives, Washington, D. C."
"Mr. H. P. Powell, Gettysburg, Va."
"Dear Sir: I have letters in response to the collection of money for the campaign. One must be very careful about this. It will bring the party up into disrepute, which would be bad for everyone. We must preserve our connection with the people and with the administration. With best wishes, I am, extremely yours, C. W.
Slemm."
